Subject: Misguided Dog Ordinance

Dear Councilman,

5 animals, (Dogs specifically) in an apartment or house is way too much.
Barking

is a major issue. Dog hording has become a problem and how do you expect to save dogs by this misguided ordinance? It doesn't make sense. The same people that gave them up in the first place will just do the same thing.

There will always be abandoned dogs. People can't afford their upkeep or pay for their vet bills now, and you want to give them the ability to have more dogs. Ridiculous. And most of all the city does not maintain any semblance of monitoring now. How do you plan to do this in the future?

This ordinance is an awful idea. Please come to your senses for all our sakes.

Sincerely,

- Jesse Sugarman

>Dear Mr Koretz

>The proposed ordinance allowing up to 5 dogs per residence will create a bigger nuisance than the one you are trying to solve.

>I send this email in objection to such an ill conceived idea, based on the many reasons you've heard already (breeding, noise, feces, etc...).

>Solutions to the population problem need to be re-enforced.
