The preparation of the content within this document has been acquired over a six year period, relating to the history of the community in Los Angeles called Rose Hills. All of the material provided is of external resources and has been unified to create this portfolio. This document is prepared with careful observations to accuracy and undisputed reputable resources that have existed for over a century and others with more current preparations accepted as relatively recent reports.

At the conclusion of reviewing this portfolio, you may have a different prospective of the North East Area of Los Angeles and become more aware of how vital the community of Rose Hills has played to this region for over a millennium.

Dear Mr. Manzano:

Thank you for taking the time to participate in my recent "Coffee With Your Congressman" meeting at Huntington Drive Elementary School on Saturday, July 23, 2011. I appreciated the opportunity to update you on my work in Washington, D.C., and I came away from our meeting with a better understanding of the issues and priorities you would like to see addressed. The input you provided will play a key role in my decision making process as I work to set a new direction for our country in Congress.

The most important part of the meeting for me was the question and answer session. I heard loud and clear your concerns about the state of our economy, budget deficits and many other issues. As your representative in Congress, I am committed to staying informed and aware of the issues important to you.

Again, thank you for participating in the democratic process by joining our community in this open forum. I look forward to continuing our discussion at future meetings, and online at <http://Becerra.House.Gov>. Please remember that my office is available to help with any federal matter that concerns you.

Many thanks!

Sincerely,

XAVIER BECERRA

The Honorable Jose Huizar
Councilmember, 14th District
City of Los Angeles
200 N. Spring Street, Room 465
Los Angeles, CA 90012

Councilmember Huizar,

I am writing to express my support for the Rose Hills community in their request for additional landmark signs from the City of Los Angeles. These signs will serve to better identify this important community in Northeast Los Angeles.

Although I am a newly elected Senator representing this area, I am well aware of how important these signs can be for fostering civic pride and creating a stronger sense of community among the people who reside in these neighborhoods. Since 1967, a number of such communities have been identified and recognized by the City of Los Angeles with signs placed in highly visible areas.

It is my understanding that there is currently only one sign in place for the Rose Hills community, and that a previously installed sign in another location was vandalized and never replaced.

Please let me know what I can do to work with you and the residents of Rose Hills to facilitate this request. I look forward to working with you as one of the representatives serving your council district in Sacramento. Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns on this or any other matter.

Sincerely,

The City of Los Angeles,
Arts, Parks & Neighborhood Community;

Blessings to you and your families throughout this Christmas season. I am writing to express my support for the Rose Hills community in their request for additional L.A.D.O.T. community signs from the City of Los Angeles. These signs will serve to better identify this important community.

As the Parroquial Administrator for Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish in Rose Hills, I am aware of how important these signs can be for fostering civic pride and creating a sense of community among our Parish families and residents..

In closing, we would like to thank our honorable Councilman Jose Huizar and other councilmatic peers in their kind appreciation and their full support in this matter of community signs.

Sincerely in Christ,

Rev. Nelson Trinidad
Parroquial Administrator

We would like to clarify a misunderstanding from the El Sereno Historical Society relating to the Community name of Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish and School. We are not part of the El Sereno Community. Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish and School resides in the Rose Hill Community and by supporting this motion 11-2057, that has been sponsored by Councilman Jose Huizar and Councilman Rosendahl, we ask for your support to move forward with said motion to have closure on this subject. For clarity our Archdiocese archival records have us listed as the community of Rose Hill.

Sincerely in Christ,

Fr. Nelson Trinidad
Pastor

To whom it may concern,

This letter is to verify that Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish and School are recognized by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles to be in the community of Rose Hill. Attached for your review is the official 2013 Catholic Directory of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. You will find that we are listed as "Our Lady of Guadalupe (Rose Hill)." The parish has been open under this name since 1928 and the school has been open under this name since 1957.

Please feel free to contact the school's principal, Mr. Victor Serna, M. Ed, at 323/ 221-8187 should you have any questions.

Los Angeles, CA 90032

Dear Mr. Manzano:

I am the President of Rose Hills Company. Rose Hills Company owns the ROSE HILLS® trademark (Registration No. 2,904,499), which was registered with the United States Patent and Trademark Office on November 23, 2004. This trademark is being used in connection with mortuary, cemetery, crematory, burial and cremation services.

The community of Rose Hills, California has requested that it be allowed to replace four signs depicting the name of the community, and has requested that Rose Hills Company provide written approval. On behalf of Rose Hills Company, I authorize the community of Rose Hills to replace the four signs depicting the name ROSE HILLS. However, the community of Rose Hills must never use or permit others to use the name ROSE HILLS (or anything similar thereto) in connection with mortuaries, cemeteries, crematories and/or funeral, burial and cremation services.

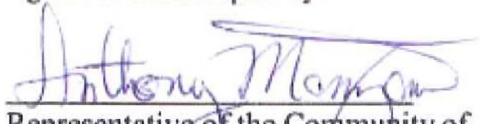

Please contact me if you require additional information.

Very truly yours,

Kenton C. Woods

November, 2011

To those Parties of Interest & Public Citizens,

This letter is being prepared to indicate that LA-32 Neighborhood Council is in support of a request for additional community signs within our Boundaries. There have been many community discussions and ample opportunities to provide engaged dialogue regarding the request for "Community Signs", including that of the Land Use Committee.

During a Regular General Board Meeting held in April 2011, our Neighborhood Council voted in the Affirmative to adopt the Land Use Committee's recommendations. It was noted that University Hills and Hillside Village each have five displayed signs. A Motion was introduced to replace and provide for additional signage in 90032, including one with the community of 'El Sereno', to be placed on Eastern, north of Valley. Three 'Rose Hills' signs would be requested by Council Member Huizar and two 'Rose Hills' signs are requested by Council Member Reyes.

The request to retain community Identity started over six years ago, and has grown into the "Blooming Beauty" that will be secured for generations to come. Rose Hills traces its origins to over 7,000 years with the reference to the flower of grace and resilience, the ROSE.

The community of Rose Hills has gained support from the Lincoln Heights Neighborhood Council as well as the Arroyo Seco Neighborhood Council, providing for additional discussion and fact finding. Many local communities have promoted their historical roots to the era of Spain/Mexico calling this area 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla'. Rose Hills is proud to have the unique distinction of such an historic past and wishes to preserve and promote in the future.

With this letter, along with countless archives validating its historic reference for millenniums, and the signatures of hundreds of residents showing support, and support from three Neighborhood Councils, we ask that we gain City Council support as well.

Sincerely,

Anthony Manzano
LA-32 Neighborhood Council
President

ARROYO SECO NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL (ASNC)

MINUTES OF THE MEETING

MONDAY, OCTOBER 26, 2009 07:00PM

VII. ACTION ITEMS -- Funding Requests:

1. Jerry Schneider gave a PowerPoint presentation and offered the following revised motion, to read as follows:

SIGNAGE PROJECT $3,000 – Motion that ASNC provide funding in the amount of $3,000 for a Way Finding Signage Project. Funding is contingent upon the project being funded by additional partners for an amount of additional funding of not less than $7,500. This project has been under discussion for the last two months in the ASNC Environment Committee, and the committee recommends the project. The project will provide directional way finding signage to assist pedestrians find their way to various cultural, historical, and recreational destinations (such as Audubon Center, Debs Park, Heritage Square, and Lummis Home) from the Metro Rail Gold Line Southwest Museum Station.

After discussion, the Board adopted the motion, after further amending it as follows:

The Environmental Committee will come back to the Board with a detailed proposal showing the number and location of the signs after full funding is secured.

2. The motion to approve the allocation of $2000 in community project funds to the non-profit organization, Northeast Trees, to water 20 trees for one year at locations on Figueroa Ave from 3800 to 4978 Figueroa (which borders the HHPNC) was unanimously approved with one abstention.
3. The Treasurer announced that an attempt was being made to resolve the Avenue 50 Security Camera issue by treating the Board's previous appropriation as a Neighborhood Purposes Grant.

VIII. ACTION ITEMS -- Non-Funding Requests:

1. 710 FREEWAY DISCUSSION

- a) After discussion, on motion duly made and seconded, the Statement (see attached) was amended as follows:

Last sentence in first paragraph to be changed from: "The ASNC is opposed to any form of an extension to the 710 Freeway through the ASNC area that will result in" to "The ASNC is opposed to any form of an extension to the 710 Freeway through the ASNC area if it will result in." (Changes are highlighted) and approved by a vote of 11 in favor, 1 against, and 1 abstention. The statement is to be sent to relevant elected and appointed officials identified by the Board's 710 working group.

- b) A motion was adopted that the ASNC shall file the following Community Impact Statement in support of L.A. City Council File #09-0002-s189 (Garcetti/Huizar/ Reyes, submitted Sept. 30, 2009), a resolution whereby the City would oppose any extension of the 710 Freeway via tunnel through Zones 1 and 2, while calling for any portal opening for such a tunnel in Zone 3 to be south of Valley Blvd. (Zones as defined by the Caltrans/MTA SR-710 Tunnel Technical Study):

"The Arroyo Seco Neighborhood Council supports this action insofar as the resolution opposes as impractical and costly any completion of the 710 Freeway underneath our ASNC communities, contained almost completely in Caltrans "Zones 1 and 2." As good neighbors in the City NC system, ASNC defers to the LA32 Council, representing El Sereno, regarding any construction there. Within Los Angeles City, LA32's area would bear the major portion of any potential negative effects from a possible tunnel extension through "Zone 3."

2. By motion duly made and adopted, the ASNC Board indicated that it has no objection to the placement of a "Rose Hills" community sign on Monterey Road adjacent to (but not within) the ASNC's boundaries.
3. The motion to amend the Standing Rules or Bylaws (as determined by Rules and Elections Committee) so as to enable the President to take part in board votes has been deferred to the next meeting of the Board. Tom Marble agreed to research Robert Rules of Order to ascertain whether a Bylaws amendment will be required.
4. The proposal by Roy Payan of the Montecito Heights Improvement Association, for the ASNC to sponsor a food drive for needy families in all ASNC communities was tabled to the next meeting of the Board.
5. After discussion, on motion duly made and seconded, the Board unanimously approved the resolution:

Whereas, the November 8th public comment deadline only provides 42 days for consideration and input to the draft LA Bike Master Plan, thereby severely limiting neighborhood council participation,

To: The Office of Councilman Jose Huizar

From: Raymond Rios

President of Hillside Village Property Owners Association

Date: December 7, 2011

To Whom It May Concern:

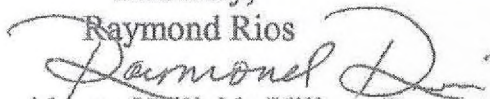

This letter is in reference to a proposed community sign that select members from the community of Rose Hills have proposed placing on the last pole on the northbound side of Soto Street before arriving at the transition bridge at on Mission Rd. and Soto Street. As I understand it, this sign will indicate to the northbound traffic that they are entering the community of Rose Hills.

As president of Hillside Village Property Owner's Association, we as a group or community, do not oppose the placement of their "Rose Hill's" community sign being placed at this previously agreed upon location (The last pole on the northbound side of Soto St. before arriving at the Mission/Soto transition bridge).

If there are any further questions to clarify our positions on this matter, I may be contacted at 323 547-6067. Thank you for your attention in this matter.

Sincerely,

Raymond Rios

THE CITY'S BOUNDS.

How Los Angeles City Limits Have Been Changed.

Some Interesting Data Derived from Local History.

The Old Pueblo Once Included the Territory Now in Its Annexed. Succeeding Governments Varied the Boundary Lines.

Few of American cities during the period of their municipal existence have had so many different boundaries as Los Angeles. The variations in the limits of Los Angeles have not resulted so much from growth, as from the varied municipal laws and customs of the different nations that have swayed its destinies in the past one hundred and fifteen years.

During the forty years that Los Angeles was under the domination of Spain the area of the pueblo was four square leagues (a Spanish league contains 444 acres.) No boundary lines were run and the exact territory over which jurisdiction was not clearly defined.

During the twenty-five years that the Mexican republic controlled the government affairs of California, the Los Angeles expanded from its original limits to sixteen.

Of the fifty years that California has formed part of the United States, the area of our city has alternately expanded and contracted. At the time of the American conquest of California (1848) the United States of America claimed jurisdiction over sixteen square leagues. When the city was incorporated by the Legislature of the Territory of California, April 4, 1850, the area of the city by the act of incorporation was limited to four square miles.

Before the United States Land Commission, appointed in 1851, to adjust the Mexican land grants in California, the city authorities had claimed to sixteen square leagues. When the Land Commission finally passed upon the city's claims its area was again contracted to four square leagues. And this for forty years has virtually been its limit. But its boundary lines have drifted back and forth with different surveys until the exact point in any one of its boundaries at which the city ends and the country begins, "no fellow can find out."

The various changes in the limits of our city, the jurisdiction alternately exercised and abandoned over territory outside of its present limits, and how these changes were brought about form an interesting chapter of our city's history—a chapter unknown to the great mass of its present residents.

In view of the prospective annexation of territory once within the city's limits and the complications that may grow out of annexation on the water question and other questions, this part of our city's history is of vital interest to every property-owner within its present or prospective limits.

A very mistaken idea prevails among writers of history that the old Pueblo de Nuestra Señora la Reina de los Angeles, founded by Gov. Felipe de Neve, September 4, 1781, was simply a town in the center of American occupation in that word. The little settlement of eleven peñoles (colonists) whose mud-daubed huts clustered around the plaza, with north of the present site of the Church of Our Lady of the Angels, was intended for the term of a century; and it was the nucleus of a colony in the same manner as the pilgrim settlement that built its log cabins around the common square and meeting-house of Plymouth, in 1620. The plan of colonization was the same in both cases—a common square or plaza as the center from which the colony radiated.

The pueblo plan was the reverse of our own western colonization; in it the town came first, while with our own western pioneers the town came last and was merely a center point for the convenience of trade. The pueblo plan was no doubt primarily adopted for protection against the hostile aborigines of the country. The site chosen for the pueblo of Los Angeles was for centuries the site of the Indian town, Yangua, and a military guard was kept at the gunhouse on the old plaza for several years after the settlement. A hundred years ago Los Angeles was a walled town. An adobe wall had been built around the houses that surrounded the old plaza. The Spanish word pueblo is commonly translated town or village. While it has this meaning, it also has a much wider significance. In Spanish-American countries the pueblo in many cases had a proprietary existence. It held possession of certain lands given by grant, over which it exercised jurisdiction. This was the case with the pueblo of Los Angeles. It was not founded as a town to be supported by trade, for there was no settlement outside to draw trade from. It was founded as a center of production; as an agricultural colony to produce supplies for the soldiers and others at the presidio. The absolute title to all the lands in California under Spanish rule was vested in the King. The pueblo lands were divided into solares, house lots; suertes, cultivatable lands; ejidos, vacant suburbs for buildings; propinas, lands granted for municipal revenues; dehesas, pasture lands for the large herds of the pueblo; and realengas, royal lands for the King's revenue. In addition to these were what were called bienes comunales, town property, or property the use of which belonged to every one of its inhabitants, such as springs and the waters of the river, etc. This, it is true, is ancient history, and the average reader may fail to see of what value it is in the affairs of the city now. In the settlement of the numerous water questions and in the fighting to a finish of the impending water war, everything that pertained to the proprietary rights of the old pueblo will be of vital importance to property-holders and taxpayers who will be concerned to put up the dinero to carry on the war. Our right to the waters of the river comes through the proprietary rights granted to the old pueblo by the King of Spain. And since America passed under the domination of the republic of Mexico there was but little change in the form of the municipal government of the pueblo. The title of the pueblo lands was vested in the alcalde and the ayuntamiento. In 1834 the Departmental Assembly of California designated the boundaries of the pueblo of Los Angeles to be "two leagues to each wind from the center of the plaza." (The terms of this wind being used instead of the cardinal points.)

On the 23d of May, 1834, Los Angeles, by an act of the Mexican Congress, was "erected" into a city, and made the capital of Alta California. The ciudad de Los Angeles, at its creation, was a city of magnificent distances. According to the boundaries designated the previous year—"two leagues to each wind from the center of the plaza"—its area was sixteen square leagues, or about one hundred and ten square miles—really and truly a greater Los Angeles.

In 1846, before the conquest, an attempt was made to divide the city into four leagues, but this was done, however, was to measure two leagues in the direction of the four winds and not along the boundary lines, and these were the boundaries at the time of the American conquest. The California Legislature, at its first session, passed an act, April 4, 1850, to incorporate the city of Los Angeles, and its legislature sometimes has made a mess of it. The act provided that "All that tract of land included within the limits of the pueblo de Los Angeles as heretofore known and acknowledged shall henceforth be known as the city of Los Angeles. (It had already been known as city of fifty years.) Provided, however, that if such limits include more than four square miles, the Council shall fix by ordinance the limits of the city not to include more than said quantity of land, and the boundaries to be determined shall therefore be the boundaries of the city." This act provided that the city of Los Angeles should succeed to all the rights, claims, and powers of the pueblo of Los Angeles in regard to property. The legislature evidently blundered in fixing the city limits at four square miles. "All that tract included in the pueblo, etc." had never been less than four square leagues. The Ord. survey of 1849 had subdivided the mesa south of First street, and west of Main, into blocks, to Twelfth street, and into lots and blocks to Eleventh street. This act would have cut off the city in the neighborhood of the mesa south of First street, and the Los Angeles of sixteen leagues into the lesser Los Angeles of half a league. These intemperate legislators seem not to have known the difference between four square miles and four square leagues.

When the United States Land Commission in 1851 began its herculean task of adjusting the Mexican land grants in California, the city of Los Angeles laid claim to sixteen square leagues of land. The Hancock survey of 1850 had divided the city into south of First street to the Rancho Los Berreros (Crown ranch) and on the west to the present city limits to the Plaza de Tercera de T. Sanchez, and the La Choncha. Into thirty-five acres tracts known as donation lots. The proposed city limits, of 1853, on the south (first of the river) extended over two miles below the present boundary line on the west, and on the west nearly two miles beyond the present western boundary. Vernon, West Vernon, Harmony, University, and Rosedale, the suburbs that sought annexation in the city last fall, and came very near it, are located in this territory. The streets, south of First, in this survey, were named after the Presidents, beginning with Washington, in regular succession followed: Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams and Jackson streets. All these streets except parts of the first three, have long since disappeared in the orange groves of Vernon and in the gardens of University and Rosedale. "In July, 1854, George Hennessey, Deputy County surveyor, surveyed the three boundaries of the pueblo lands of Los Angeles—the south, west and north. This survey bounded these lands on the south by the Rancho San Antonio and Leo Carrasco on the west by the Rancho Fano de la Tijera, de T. Sanchez, La Cienega, and de los Rios; on the north by the Rancho Los Pellos de L. Oranger, de los Berdegues and Roma de Castilla. The area included contained 1,138 acres—about fifty square miles—nearly double the area confirmed to the city by the land commission the next year. If the annexation scheme carried, the south boundary (west of the river) and the west boundary of the expanded city will very nearly conform to the limit of this survey.

The United States Land Commission in 1854 confirmed to the city a grant of four square leagues (nearly twenty-eight square miles) and rejected its claim to all outside of that. This area was bounded north and south by parallel lines two leagues in length, and running due east and west, and the east and west sides by two parallel lines each two leagues in length and running north and south. The sides one league each from the center of the plaza. Sixty-seven years ago the city limits expanded and contraction the city limits expanded down to the dimensions of Gov. Felipe de Neve's pueblo of 1781—"one league to each wind measured from the center of the plaza." And at that it has remained with but little variation for forty years.

The efforts of certain suburban districts to be annexed to the city will no doubt be successful at the coming election—as indeed they should be. Whatever complications may grow out of the expansion of the city limits, it is not at all likely that the interests of the parties to the annexation will be adverse. Had there been a united effort by the city authorities before the commission all this suburban district would have been part of the city's domain forty years ago.

The city, within the limits confirmed, inherited a magnificent domain from the old pueblo. But sad to say the city fathers, years ago, frittered it away without obtaining any substantial or lasting benefit to the city. All that is left to the city, of the properties, the dehesas, and the realengas of Gov. Felipe de Neve's pueblo, are the grounds of Westlake and Elysian parks and these would have gone the way of all the other city lands long ago had the city authorities been able to find some one to take them off their hands.

The Children's Hospital has broke ground recently for a sixteen-bed addition to be used as a contagious ward. This wing was donated by Mrs. E. L. Deheny and Mrs. W. M. Garland.

"The need of this city for more hospital accommodations has long been realized by the Children's Hospital," said Mrs. Crutcher. "Our present 100-bed capacity is outtaxed at all times, and we have an average of 107 to 110 patients and are forced to turn away from ten

The Western Laundry boys met their Waterloo on the local diamond last Sunday, in a blue birding game, and when the smoke had cleared away it was discovered that the game stood in 9 to 9 in favor of Birdshotown.

The game was a splendid one from all points, each side handling the ball in a business-like manner. The visitors had produced a better team than upon this occasion, believing that the Harlequins' constant kicking the ball took them out of their feet and thus gave the game a one-sided character. There and then it would not have surprised much persons to have seen the knowledge the Harlequins had of the superior scheme it came to playing the ball.

EL SERENO STAR PURCHASED BY
ORAN W. ASA, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER

F. T. WILLHITE TO CONTINUE AS MANAGER

The El Sereno Star this week has a new owner. Announcement is made today by Fred Willhite that he has sold the popular newspaper to Oran W. Asa, publisher of four other community newspapers in this part of Los Angeles.

Details of the sale were completed last Monday, and this week's paper is published under the new ownership.

In this new arrangement Willhite continues as display advertising manager—and great plans for an expanded newspaper for El Sereno are in the making.

For the past seven years Asa has owned and published the Lincoln Heights Bulletin-News, Highland Park Journal, and "We will continue in our efforts to build El Sereno. And, of course, will be open to the suggestions of everyone who is working for the best for El Sereno."

Mrs. Dorothy Cortese, who has been with the Star for the past eight months, will continue to handle the office at 4948½ Huntington Drive South, as well as do some display sales.

Willhite founded the Star in November of 1949, and since that time it has grown steadily until it has become physically impossible for him to handle all of the details.

"During the last 10 months the Star has grown with such speed that I found it impossible for me to continue doing the work

State Committee Inspects College Site Here

Rose Hills is the best site for Los Angeles State college. This was the general consensus of local citizens and city officials last Tuesday, when they met at the Rose Hills administration building with members of the college site committee, headed by James Dean, state director of finance.

Among speakers stressing the need for a four-year educational institution in this area was 14th District Councilman John Holland, who acted as temporary chairman of the meeting due to the illness of Assemblyman Thomas Doyle.

Reasonable

"Rose Hills offers a site at a reasonable acquisition cost of $200,000, compared to other sites that would cost between three and business and industry.

"And I believe that the latest of the legislature should be carried out," he emphasized.

Anderson revealed that the Rose Hills area is located in the midst of a middle class community and close to business and industry.

"If the college were located here the many students who had to work their way through school would be able to find jobs in this area," he added.

Map Shows

C. R. Drake of the Monterey Woods Improvement Association, exhibited a large scale map of Los Angeles before the committee with a circle showing the large metropolitan population which would be served by the college.

"In the event that the college were established in the Valley instead of the metropolitan area," Drake said, "you can see that a great many of students would be

 of which "A" calls for developing 33 acres of hillside terrain on South Ave., 60 in Highland Park into 131 building

 "A" having already received the approval of the City Planning Commission. Approval of the remaining three land in white, will be sought next Thursday at a public hearing. If okayed, the entire project will then be submitted to the Community Redevelopment Agency. In El Sereno, Section "B" comprises about 200 acres 60, between Colles Avenue and Monterey Rd.; Section "C," 200 acres east of Colles Avenue to acres east of Van Horne and Monterey Avenues. The 33 acres is located at the north end of the bounded by existing homes along Monterey Road and S. Ave. 60. In its present state, the area is in such a manner that streets would be too steep for wheel traffic, and many of the lots are delinquent and some have been devoted to the state for non-payment of taxes.

Goes Up Road Over Portions of Which

The successful climb of an Autocar over Rose Hill yesterday forenoon set a new pace for adventurous demonstrators to follow. To accommodate The Herald's automobile writer H. E. Gilley cranked up his touring car, and with a party of five went out to the east city limits on Pasadena boulevard to see what the possibilities or impossibilities of the grade up the hill might be.

Two blocks to the left from Pasadena boulevard after crossing the Short Line tracks the car was driven a block to Rose Hill station. No chance was afforded the car for a run at the hill on account of the crossing and the short distance to the foot of the steep incline. When the tracks were crossed the gears were thrown into the intermediate and the car began its work.

It was not long until the low gear had to be engaged, and then the little 30-horse power motor began to purr and sing as if it enjoyed turning around ten or more times to one revolution of the rear wheels. Up and up the car went around two sharp turns until it reached the hog's back, where a steep pitch and a sharp turn sent the car in the opposite direction and up the ridge of the hill.

Park construction starts

Develop 90 acres for first phase

Groundbreaking for the first phase of development of 90-acre Rose Hill Park as a nature preserve and regional park was held here Thursday's opposite 4118 Monterey Rd.

Participating in the ground-breaking were County Supervisor James Lora, City Engineer and Councilman Art Boudier, and representatives of the city, county and state parks departments as well as local citizens and groups.

The first phase is to be completed in 270 calendar days. Contractor is the A. G. Tular Company of North Hollywood, which has brought the contract. Work will be focused through bonds approved by the city and state.

Included in the first phase are service roads, pedestrian walkways, a nature trail, a four-lane parking lot, a 10-acre lake with 30 native water and birdlife, parking for 100 cars, reading room, picnic grounds, landscaping, and a trail system.

Structures to be built during the first phase are a parking station and service building. Landscaping will include planting of indigenous trees and shrubs. A trail system will be developed through a wildlife preserve. Cost of the first phase is $857,800.

Eventually some 30 miles will be spent in developing the park although there is no guarantee for ultimate completion. Development will continue building because of the park's location at the foot of the San Gabriel Mountains.

Work on Rose Hill Park begins

Now largely barren land, development of the 90-acre Rose Hill regional park started last Thursday with groundbreaking ceremonies in the 4100 block of Monterey Road. Rough boundaries of the park are Monterey Road on the east, Griffin Ave. on the west and north and Mercury Ave. on the south. The initial phase, costing $857,800, will be constructed by the A. G. Tular Company of North Hollywood.

To the Hon. City Council of Los Angeles

We the undersigned Citizens and tax-payers would respectfully represent and show that we are living near <sup>on</sup> Superior Court, located between N. Broadway and Huntington Avenue that the place adjoining where we live to wit: at 4101 Mission Road there is being kept a number of lions said lions by their roaring day and night constitute a public nuisance.

Recently old horses have been slaughtered here and the stench from remains which have been only partly buried has been unbearable at times.

We therefore pray to have this double nuisance abolished.

LIONS NOT AGREEABLE NEIGHBORS

Rose Hill People Will Put Up With Most Everything but King of Beasts

The people of Rose Hill want it distinctly understood that they do not object to ordinary city noises, such as automobiles, street cars, steam trains and even the mooing of cows and the occasional crowing of roosters, but in a petition filed at the City Hall yesterday they utter a most raucous protest against a flock of lions which has been planted in their midst. The petition declared that, "said lions by their roaring day and night constitute a public nuisance," and they asked the City Council to please stop the lions from roaring or remove the animals from Rose Hill.

The lions, the petition declared, are located at 401 Mission Road, and are presumably there for motion-picture purposes, to be rented out when one of Douglas Fairbanks's or Gloria Swanson's films require some roaring lions. The Rose Hill people say that roaring lions may be excellent for motion pictures, but as neighbors the animals are most obnoxious.

The petition was signed by E. H. Strong and other property owners in the vicinity of Superior Court on North Broadway and Huntington Drive, and also by the Rose Hill Civic Improvement League.

JUL 23 1921

To the COUNCIL of
THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES,

Gentlemen:-

In reply to yours of the 2nd inst., re communications No. 1401 (1919) and 860 (1920), said communications referring to the property in Rose Hill owned jointly by the city and the Pacific Electric Railway Company and held in trust by the Title Insurance and Trust Company, wherein you advise me that by resolution adopted on the said 2nd inst. you instructed that said Title Insurance and Trust Company continue said trust for the collection of the outstanding indebtedness represented by deferred payments upon contracts made with various purchasers of said property, and required the said Title Insurance and Trust Company to forthwith pay to the city the amount due to it on account of moneys heretofore received from the sale of said property, I desire to advise you that I have received from said Title Insurance and Trust Company on account of moneys so received from such sales, its draft for $5,101.58, which draft, being No. 160654, payable to the City of Los Angeles, is transmitted herewith, together with statement issued by said Title Insurance and Trust Company showing in full the amount received by it on account of said sales as well as the amount disbursed by it.

I transmit herewith the files in said matter.

Very truly yours,

JESS E. STEPHENS, City Attorney,

No. 1786 (1921).

The Finance Committee reported as follows:

In the matter of the request of Judge Hugh J. Crawford, relative to tinting of walls and furnishing of new window shades for court rooms and chambers, we recommend that said request be referred to the Purchasing Agent to obtain a price therefor, and report his findings direct to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Conaway moved, seconded by Mr. Criswell that the report as read be adopted.

Which motion was adopted by the following vote: Ayes, Messrs. Conaway, Criswell, Delorey, Farmer, Mallard, Sanborn, Wheeler and Pres. Workman (8). Noes, None.

Nos. 1401 (1919) and 860 (1920).

The Finance Committee reported as follows:

In the matter of the report of the City Attorney with reference to property in Rose Hill owned jointly by the City and the Pacific Electric Railway Company, and held in trust by the Title Insurance and Trust Company, and asking for instructions in the matter, we recommend that the City Attorney be instructed to have the Title Insurance and Trust Company pay to the City its share of the money on hand, and instruct said Title Insurance and Trust Company to continue the trust for the collection of outstanding indebtedness accruing from sale of said property, and to pay to the City, such money as may be from time to time collected from such sale.

.. 1401 and 860 (1919 and 1920).

The City Attorney reported as follows:

In reference to the property in Rose Hill, owned jointly by the City and by the Pacific Electric Railway Company, and held by the Title Insurance & Trust Company in trust, under Trust Agreement No. 4705, I desire to advise you that all of said property has been sold upon arrangements contemplating part cash, balance upon deferred payments for which notes have been executed by the purchasers.

A statement issued by the Title Insurance & Trust Company under date of March 17, 1920, hereto annexed, shows in detail the total amount for which said property was sold, and also shows that after the payment of expenses, there is the sum of $8,796.37 in cash on hand, and the sum of $7,566.34 unpaid, but which amount is represented by notes executed by the purchasers, now held by said Title Insurance & Trust Company.

I desire also to call your attention to statements rendered by the Pacific Electric Land Company on behalf of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, showing the sum of $408.36 due the Pacific Electric Railway Company for expenditures made by it for taxes and other expenses incurred in connection with said property, and on account of charges for management thereof as provided for by agreement with said company.

It is suggested by the Pacific Electric Land Company that said trust be continued until all of the notes held by said Title Company have been paid in full, so that it can then make a division of the proceeds thereof.

May I ask if you deem it proper to instruct the payment of said balance due the Pacific Electric Railway Company, and to authorize the continuation of said trust until all of said notes representing deferred payments, are liquidated in full.

I transmit herewith the file in said matter and will request that the same be returned to me.

GRADE CROSSING TO BE CUT OUT.

New Road Eliminates Dangerous Spot at Rose Hill.

Highway Parallels Four-Track Right of Way.

Work to be Completed Within Very Few Weeks.

Appearances indicate that it will be a matter of only a few weeks until it no longer will be necessary for motorists driving between Los Angeles and Pasadena and other points to the east to pass over one of the most dangerous grade crossings there is in all of Southern California. This is what is known as the Rose Hill crossing of the Pacific Electric tracks.

Four tracks cross the highway at this point. Two are used by local and overhead crossings, which now are in use by through trains. Trains cross the intersection at an interval of about every five minutes. There is a long curve in the tracks, and, although embankments have been cut down and motorcars exercise speed control in approaching, there has been a large number of accidents, because of the difficulty of seeing approaching trains. The only safeguard provided is the electric warning signal, but here, as at many other grade crossings, there have been not infrequent cases of the motorist who thought he could "make it," with disastrous results.

A NEW ROAD.

The necessity for motorists to cross the tracks here will be overcome through the construction of a new road, which is now nearing completion. This road takes off from the present highway just before the crossing is reached and bears to the west.

It parallels the tracks on the west side to a point beyond the present bridge over the same tracks at a point near Redwinson, where it returns to the present road. When completed, the road will remove all need for using the dangerous crossing except on the part of those persons residing on the short section of Huntington drive between the grade and the new road. Harry M. Hanahue, manager of the Los Angeles branch of Apperson Bros. Automobile Co., and Ernest W. Johnson, the Apperson dealer in Pasadena, made an inspection of the new road a few days ago. In one of the new Apperson four-door models, Mr. Johnson said that all motorists from Los Angeles who desire to reach any eastern points over the Valley or Foothill boulevards and all who come to the city from that part of the country, will be aided in the fact that they can travel a short distance and thereby avoid taking any chances on the dangerous Rose Hill crossing.

A Dangerous Grade Being Eliminated.

The Rose Hill crossing of the Pacific Electric tracks has long been condemned as unsafe and many accidents have happened at this point. A new road is being constructed which will eliminate this crossing. At top, an Apperson, one of Harry Hanahue's latest arrivals, is shown on the four-track grade, and (below) the highway being built around the tracks, doing away with the crossing.

This portfolio is a work in progress with far more facts to be found, with ample dedication and constant research, to seek and find what is archived over the centuries. This document is part of my discoveries with efforts to share the truth and provide the material that proves the prominence of the community of Rose Hills. Much of the information provided in this document has been researched and provided by the Los Angeles Public Library, College Archives, State Documents, United States Congress, Museum Facts, Newspaper Clippings, Court Records, Historic Maps, Mission Reports, and other documented reports found on the internet and of local studies.

The dedication for the preparation of this document started over six years ago with the sole desire to find out the historic value of the community of Rose Hills. I was led to believe what many others have expressed about the community in which I live in, and the misperception of the true history of the North East area of Los Angeles. Realizing that I was being misinformed, I decided that I would go on a quest to find out for myself, what the truth is about Rose Hills. For years, it has been claimed that Rose Hills was a part of El Sereno, Lincoln Heights, or Montecito Heights and that Rose Hills was not actually a community. Growing up in this community and being the fourth generation in the same home has given me a unique sense of home awareness and the truth.

My first real sense of discovery was found at the local Library when references showed the community of Rose Hills alongside that of Bairdstown in 1912. It sparked interest in me, that Rose Hills is an old historic community, leading to remarkable findings that will change the outlook of the Historic Community of Rose Hills. With very little knowledge of the historical accounts of the community, my search for facts guided me in many directions. You will find a detailed review of the work that has been uncovered and specific relations of the how the community was named and the prominence it has retained in the Los Angeles region.

Rose Hills is the English version of the same lands that have been here for millions of years. The name of the community, as it was called a century and a half ago, is in Spanish with the very same reference to the Rose. The Spanish name was 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla', and many facts will be shared here with direct connection of the area indicated as Rose Hills and the "Ranch". Before the 'Ranch' was actually named and owned by individuals, the area was known for the small river called the 'Arroyo Rosa de Castilla' with its abundant roses that grew naturally along the banks of the stream. Before any mention of the area in Spanish was claimed, the Native Indians also referred to the Rose in naming this location in current day Los Angeles. The TONGVA Indians called these lands "OTSUNGNA", which in their native tongue means the 'Place of Roses'. No matter what language you speak, the relative feature that remains is the connection to the Rose, the community of Rose Hills has the distinctive privilege of still carrying the name that has been recognized for thousands of years. Enjoy this small venture into the past and realize the importance of retaining the name that has been carried for centuries on end. Discover the beautiful facts of this community and the richness it holds in Los Angeles; discover the Historic Community of Rose Hills.

Pre-Historic Time Period

Our planet has continued to evolve for millions of years; the Los Angeles Basin contains fossils from one of the World's most famous localities, the La Brea Tar Pits, which holds natural collections from the Ice Age Period. It also contains the only human found in the Pits dating back over 7,000 years, that of a female Tongva Indian, indicating that civilization and humanity roamed the areas of current Los Angeles. (Credits to 'A Brief History of the Tongva Tribe' by Rosanne Welch - Claremont University 2006) The Tongva Indians have also been referred to as the Gabrielino Indians with relation to the San Gabriel Mission. This thriving Tribe will indicate that they have lived on the lands since the beginning of time, history verifies between 5,000 - 8,000 years in the area as a forming society following the hunted game westward in an organized manner. The entire Tribe was a collection of many little Villages encompassing an area from around Magic Mountain on the north, down to Disney Land on the South. The Pacific Ocean and its many Islands along the coast also played a vital role to the Tongva Indians, out to San Bernardino on the east.

Early Native Villages

Each of the villages had its own name and identified the name with a more specific reference to its location. Some of the Village names still hold a strong relation to the original Tongva Language for over 1,000 years. Some of the names that you hear today, such as; Topanga, Tujunga, Rancho Cucamonga, and Cahuenga, hold the exact name with a slightly different spelling. The names of other villages in our local area included Sibingna, Yaangna, and Otsungna. Yaangna describes the area closest to current day 'Placita Olvera' in Downtown. Sibingna describes the area closest to the current San Gabriel Mission. Otsungna was the name of the only village covering the hills and streams of the area between the two previously mentioned sites. OTSUNGNA means "Place of Roses" in the native language and referenced by the abundant amount of beautiful natural roses growing in the area. (Submitted as Figure 4) These roses have been on the lands for centuries before any explorations moved through the Los Angeles basin, later described as 'Rosa de Castilla'. Maps and other resources have indicated that OTSUNGNA was the prominent Village of the entire Tribe.

By its location in the hills and with the many local streams that once saturated these lands, OTSUNGNA proved itself to be a viable aspect in native living. Its proximity to the large water way, now known as the Los Angeles River, provided for an ideal Village of significant stature. The terrain provided for the natural sense of elevation, allowing the members of this village the privilege of pristine views of the lands from atop the valleys. The beauty of roaming among the hills, abundant with roses and an advantage of capturing wild life and hunted game, must have proven itself in establishing that OTSUNGNA has been referenced as the largest, and head of all the Villages in the Tribe of the Tongva People. (Indicated earlier and submitted as Figure 4 - Note the size of the marker that reflects the Village of OTSUNGNA)

First Native Contacts – Sea Expeditions

The Native Indians that lived here did so with interest in hunting, gathering seeds, planting crops and leading a natural lifestyle living off the land. The Tongva Indians learned how to sustain themselves with very little conflict and trading goods amongst themselves to survive for thousands of years. The earliest contact with outsiders appeared in the 15th – 16th Centuries as noted by the Cabrillo expedition of 1542 when Spain was in efforts to claim the land of the north. This first recorded contact came on October 7, 1542, when the Pacific Sea exploration led by Juan Cabrillo landed on current day Catalina Island, in which a boat was sent out to preview the mainland where the Tongva Indians lived. The intentions of the expedition were to map out the Pacific ports and bays which had been a success for future explorers. In an effort to assist his men, Cabrillo was injured with a broken leg and subsequently died the following year. (The California State Military Museum – <http://www.militarymuseum.org/Cabrillo.html>)

It was sixty years later when another voyage was launched along the Pacific North by the Spanish, led by Sebastian Vizcaino in 1602 and the very first time the term 'Rose' was used other than that of the Tongva Indians. Vizcaino used the term on November 10, 1602, December 16, 1602, through January 3, 1603. When this Spanish Explorer observed and noted the Rose, he did so by entries into the voyage log. It is the accounts of Padre Antonio de la Ascension's log of the same voyage, that lays claim to the name "Rosa de Castilla" (Credits to J.N. Bowman 'Rose of Castile' - Attached) The naming of the 'Rosa de Castilla' was marked by the recollection of the Rose that appeared in Spain, and relating it to the new lands that were being proclaimed under the Spanish Rule. There had been other sea explorers including those from Asia and Russia to the Pacific shores on through to the 1700's.

Land Expeditions

In the mid 1700's, it had become noted that occupation of Alta California by others than the Tongva Indians was in question, the king of New Spain, King Carlos III ordered a land exploration to claim the land with fears that the English or Russians may want to do the same. During the year of 1768, King Carlos III set the wheels in motion to control the Pacific North and organized with Gaspar de Portola to lead the expedition north by land in the following year, with intent to build missions and lay claim, that the lands belonged to Spain. (Wikipedia - Gaspar de Portola) Among those setting out northbound to venture into uncharted lands by foot, was Padre Juan Crespi, who was the diarist for the expedition. The 63 men and nearly 100 mules carrying supplies set forth on July 14, 1769, with the intent of finding the Bay of Monterey roughly in the area of present day San Francisco.

Padre Juan Crespi noted many observations and made daily entries relative to the expedition, some of the most interesting entries makes note to large Earthquakes that took place on Friday July 28, 1769, around 1:00p.m. in the area of current day Santa Ana River. (Rio de los Temblores) As the group of men marched by foot north, they neared the current day San Gabriel River over that very same weekend, they felt many aftershocks and recorded their regularity and viewed a great valley on Sunday July 30, 1769, in which it is described as 'Marshes', relating to the surrounding areas of Whittier Narrows including Legg Lake. (Credits to the Diary entries of Padre Juan Crespi)

On Monday morning July 31, 1769, the diary entry states that a violent Earthquake once again occurred while having difficulty navigating the muddy waters and the need to clear the brush at every step. As they neared a slight opening in the brush they set up camp in a clear spot and took this time to rest themselves and the animals. The following day, Tuesday August 1, 1769, they continued to rest and sent out scouts to explore the country and suggested routes. Once again the day was rocked by several Earthquakes, the soldiers asked for permission to hunt antelope, as many of the animals had been observed, and permission was granted, with some soldiers setting out on horse while others went on foot. During this hunting mission, they had noted the observation of a 'River of Fine Water' close to 50 feet wide not more than a half days march. Wednesday morning, the men set out for the 'River of Fine Water' to the West through an opening between low lying hills and on the same day, August 2, 1769, passing many Alder and Poplar Trees reached the river to be named "Río de la Porciúncula". It is also indicated that a smaller river from the North-North East intersects this larger river, but the smaller one was dry. (Description of the current Arroyo Seco) Once again, a succession of Earthquakes shook the land throughout the day and the men ultimately camped at a site by the current day Elysian Park. (Historic Landmark #655 on Broadway at the entrance to Elysian Park) On Thursday August 3, 1769, as they lead away from the river toward the west, the men were still amazed at the amount of Earthquakes, and also recorded the observation of a 'Pitch like Material Bubbling Up'. (Referring to the Tar Pits)

Quotation by Padre Junipero Serra in 1770's

In strong contrast to this lack of interest, he displays a keen appreciation of the many natural beauties they now encountered on their journey. As they drew nearer the more fertile country of Alta California, he notes the many beautiful flowers. "And that there should be nothing lacking in this line [he says with a simple, charming delight] today, on arriving at the camping place we have met the queen of them all, which is the Rose of Castile. When I write this I have before me a branch of rose bush with three roses opened, others in bud, and more than six unpetaled. Blessed be He who created them." He gives the place the poetical name of the 'Arroyo of the Roses,' and adds, "It is in so many places rank with Rosebushes full of flowers that well could an apothecary extract his profit."

<http://www.ralphmag.org/baja> The travelers resumed their laborious march over steep hills, through deep ravines, till one evening, worn and covered with the fine dust of the country; they descended into a well-watered plain, which spread out before them like a shining Garden of Eden. Here they gladly rested for a day, that the animals might graze luxuriously on the green grass and have water sufficient to quench their thirst. "The men," said Junipero, "also thought to have their refreshment with fishing and hunting. Portola and Junipero in the meantime had rather the best of it for they remained quietly in camp and were refreshed with 'chia-water' which the natives brought them, "giving us with Joviality, great pleasure and consolation such as we had not had till here."

In the year of 1852, the Rancho was once again transferred to Jean-Baptiste Batz and his wife Catalina Hegui Batz, immigrants from Argentina who lived in the Adobe home on the east side of the current 710 freeway and just north of the current 10 Freeway. (Submitted as Figure 7) Jean-Baptiste lived on the Rancho until his passing on December 6, 1859; Catalina gained possession under the Homestead Act around 1876 and proceeded to purchase the land from the surrounding owners adjacent to hers. It eventually grew to a total of 3,283 acres of land all claimed to 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' until her death on February 22, 1882. The land was then divided as an Estate to six of her eight children with the Southernmost 700 acres passed to the third eldest son named Jose Domingo Batz.

In 1863, the City of Los Angeles was unable to pay the City Health Officer and County Coroner (1862-1865), Dr. John S. Griffin for services rendered and offered in return of payment, an amount of 2,000 acres of land. Instead of paying the $3,000 owed to Dr. Griffin, the land was provided at 50 cents an acre which would later be called East Los Angeles and the City would later buy back the lands of East Lake Park in 1881. By 1901, East Lake Park was laid out and constructed, using the nearby natural water ways as a source for a major amusement park in the area and first zoological site. (History of Lincoln Park - www.lincolnheightsla.com/lincolnpark/)

Around 1870 a prominent businessman by the name of Jesse Yarnell moved to Rose Hills and was the co-founder of the Los Angeles Mirror Company, which later merged with the Los Angeles Times in 1873. That same year, a major arterial had been recognized as 'Roses Road' which started at the current intersection of Huntington Drive and Monterey Road and proceeded east. 'Roses Road' was later called Los Angeles-Pasadena Road and East Los Angeles Road, now Huntington Drive. The Southern Pacific Rail Road was constructed through the area and still exists to this day, built in 1876 and helped develop the City of Los Angeles, along with the Santa Fe Rail Road in 1887.

As rare as it may seem, a photo included is actually of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' as it appeared around 1880, with several Rancheros standing in the foreground, decades before the recognition of other local communities. (Figure 8 - Cal Trans District 7) A beautiful story relating to the Roses that grazed the lands, as told by Dona Margarita, is provided for your pleasure. ('With Flowers and Trees in California' page 185-187 written by Charles Francis Saunders). Some of the influential residents that have called 'OTSUNGNA' - Rancho Rosa de Castilla - Rose Hills home include: Padre Junipero Serra, Registrar of the Pueblo of Los Angeles - Juan Ballesteros, Captain Newton, Attorney Judge and State Senator-George Hugh Smith, Trustee of the first school built in the area - Farmdale Evan Evans, and founder of the Los Angeles Military Academy. The Co-Founder of the Los Angeles Mirror Company - later the Los Angeles Times Jesse Yarnell, owner of the Los Angeles Herald - Hancock M. Johnston (Lincoln Heights portion), Dr. John S. Griffin, W.H. Workman, nephew of Pio Pico - Marcos A. Forster of San Juan Capistrano.

Through this entire period, water sources relied on the Arroyo Rosa de Castilla and a much smaller Arroyo that ran north to south, just west of current day Eastern Ave.. The local Ascot Reservoir was unable to meet the demand of the growing community and by 1894 was out of capacity in serving the residents. By the end of the Century, the Railway system had been introduced and brought forth the age of the Pacific Electric Rail Road that traveled along the Los Angeles-Pasadena Road which later became Huntington Drive. At the turn of the 20th Century, the 'Red Car' was operating by 1902 and Rose Hills Elementary School was opened establishing a strong year for 1909. (Now Huntington Drive Elementary School)

20th Century - Rose Hills

Pacific Electric Rail Road maps indicate the validity of the community of Rose Hills by making it the first stop in route from a junction in Los Angeles through Pasadena out to Arcadia. This first stop was located at the intersection of Huntington Drive and Monterey Road, with its route through Los Angeles and special destination lines and other lines indicating services to Watts, providing for early transportation options in the City. (Photos included) At the beginning of the 20th Century, rail way transportation was more profound than that of a vehicle. Henry Huntington was the pioneer in the P.E.R.R. and used it to travel into Downtown. He created a stop for the Baird Brothers (George and Llewellyn) at the current location of Huntington Drive and Eastern (In those days called 'Farmdale' Road) There had been many sub-divisions of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' - Rose Hills from the late 1800's and many more in the early 1900's changing with the development of the Rail transportation lines through the area. The Baird Brothers had been the most aggressive real estate agents of the time and claimed an area called 'Bairdstown' which had become El Sereno. In the first decade of the 20th Century, there was no unified identity and no coordinated plan for the community as a whole. The sub-divisions were platted haphazardly, resulting in four distinct neighborhoods. (Known as Rose Hills, Bairdstown, Farmdale, and Sierra Vista) The Baird Brothers annexed the lands to the City of Los Angeles and had finalized the founding of El Sereno on June 10, 1915. It was a few years after the annexation to the City that the name El Sereno was changed from Bairdstown.

The first notable indicators of 'Our Lady of Guadalupe' occurred in 1920 with the Sisters of Social Services, where catechism classes were held in the community. In 1924 it was named 'Our Lady of Guadalupe Mission', under the care of Fr. Antonio Arias where mass was celebrated on Sundays. The beginning of World War II sparked the development of the Rose Hill Courts in 1942, built to house the Military personnel. A look of the project from the view of an engineer is provided, showing the preparation of construction, and a beautiful panorama of the community of Rose Hills. (Photo included - Rose Hill Courts - Point #1 Jan. 12, 1942)

With close to two hundred years of growth and recorded history, the open lands have still retained its beauty and natural configuration. What have been lost are the natural rivers and streams that flowed without obstruction, now we have streets that navigate our rain runoff.

With losing the Rivers and Streams, we have lost the Mother of them all, the ROSE, growing abundantly on the hillsides, now it has to be planted and tended to for the beauty to appear.

The transportation age came along and the need to modify infrastructure and keep the growing population moving was taking an historic turn. That turn started in Chicago and ended in Los Angeles with the creation and completion of "Historic Route 66". This magnificent endeavor was named the 'Mother Road', stretching for nearly 2500 miles, leading west to Los Angeles by means of the Los Angeles-Pasadena Road through our community of Rose Hills. (El Camino Real - formally Roses Road, now Huntington Drive) This can be considered one of the most popularized highways in the country, hence the name..... 'Main Street of America'. Route 66 was established on November 11, 1926. Aside from the Historic Route 66, the street names in the community have led to a unique sense of richness, by naming them after precious minerals and gemstones. Here is a list of street names given and established for the community of Rose Hills; Amber, Amethyst, Beryl, Diamond, Esmeralda, Galena, Mercury, Moonstone, Onyx, Opal, Pearl, Pyrite, Radium, Raynol, Sapphire, Sardonyx, Telluride, Topaz, Tourmaline, Turquoise, and Yorba. Remarkable that so many streets carry the names of nature's wonders, all within a community, deserving of such valued gemstones.

With the creation of the Arroyo Seco Freeway, the first Freeway in the State of California, opening in 1940, much of the affluent residents traveled by the rolling hills from Los Angeles to Pasadena doing away with the need for the Pacific Electric Rail Road and in turn giving birth to Huntington Drive. You will find it interesting to see the images of the train actually traveling down the middle of current day Huntington Drive. (Photo of Soto Bridge and P.E.R.R. September 1951) The development in the community did take a jump in the positive direction with the construction of 'Our Lady of Guadalupe - Rose Hills'. The dedication of Monsignor Ramon Soriano, who became Administrator of the Mission in 1945 and pastor in 1954 provided most of the site growth. The original hall and church was located across the street at the current day Recreation Center. It was in 1953 that the City of Los Angeles wanted to build a playground where the Mission stood, and the current location of the church across the street was purchased that same year with the help of His Eminence James Francis Cardinal McIntyre. Ramon Soriano had remarkable improvements made and welcomed as a special guest, His Eminence James Francis McIntyre, to bless the school on January 22, 1961.

Another great attribute to the Historic value of the community is found on the campuses of Cal State Los Angeles. They have records and many reports verifying the relevance of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' that they have a variety of the species in the Rose Garden, and have also named the major arterial through campus, Paseo Rancho Castilla. Our local University claims the truth about the facts and history as researched and found proven and accurate.

In 1970 a Ground Breaking Ceremony took place on Monterey Road for the newly developing 'Rose Hill Regional Park', where the County Supervisor Ernest Debs and City Council Member Art Snyder dedicate the park to the community with shovels in hand. (Photos of Ground Breaking Ceremony included - Rose Hill Regional Park) After the lease for the park was over, the City resumed management of the park and named it in honor of Mr. Debs. At this Ground Breaking site, alongside of Monterey Road, is the Official Corner Stone of the Original boundary of El Pueblo de Los Angeles. Several indicators mark this location in the community of Rose Hills, as the actual location to the founding of the City of Angels. Visit this local land mark (corner stone) as you enter Debs Park (Formally known as Rose Hill Regional Park) on Monterey Road to feel history.

As recently as just 30 years ago (1981), Mayor Tom Bradley dedicated a plaque in front of the church at the plaza in current down town Olvera Street. This plaque commemorates a very recognizable image. The plaque will also verify a marker, which is described as the 'Pueblos Corner Stone' in the community of Rose Hills at the entrance to Debs Park (formally Rose Hill Regional Park). This is one of the strongest indicators of the importance of the founding of this great City. If you look very closely and know your history of Los Angeles and its past, you will see pretty much an identical representation between the plaque and the 'Diseno' submitted as the land claim for 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla'. (Color image of Plaque attached)

Conclusion

The opportunity to share this collection of information with the community of Rose Hills and the People of the City of Los Angeles will provide for future recognition and references relative to OTSUNGNA, Rancho Rosa de Castilla, and Rose Hills. In the coming years, I will continue to pursue additional facts and resources that may provide for additional input. The findings have shown that from its earliest recordable inhabitants over 5,000 years ago, through the turn of the 21st century, the prominent feature of this part of Los Angeles, still remains that of a flower of remarkable resilience, the Rose.

It has been many centuries that societies have lived on the lands we now borrow; there will be generations of the future that will seek written resources to have an understanding of this same area of land. I would hope that this portfolio be recognized and utilized as a valued resource, to show that the memories of the Native Indians, Spaniards, Mexicans, and Angelinos all have a unified bond, to that natural treasure shared by beauty and fragrance, the Rose.

The connection between the Native Indian Village of OTSUNGNA and Rose Hills has been established by a number of credible factors, with many viable accounts credited to the lands between San Gabriel Mission and Placita Olvera, Rancho Rosa de Castilla. Following the course of history and understanding the direct relation of the progressive timeline, and its connection to the community of Rose Hills, I would ask that the Historical Society of Southern California recognize the beautiful and precious Historic Community of Rose Hills as a vital component with the founding of the City of Angels.
