Business Improvement Districts.

San Pedro - Yes, this area could be cleaned up, renovated. Cool little district with a distinct character. Don't mess up the character, but definitely could push for tourism. It's like Sublime-land.

Sherman Oaks Village - Yes.

Tourism - Yes, we should map out all the places for people to go. There's a ton of places, and the Summer is coming very soon.

East-Hollywood - I think Thai-town, hipsters, and craft ales. I think this could be built upon and grown into the local culture.

Also, there's some intriguing places, like "Jumbo's Clown Room" that could be fun to build up as well.

Hollywood - Yes, this will always be classic. Give the tourists what they came for. Let them be on TV. Do we still record the Price is Right live ? I swear, people from the Midwest buy flight tickets just to be on the show or in the audience. And all the kids in school watch it during homeroom or lunch and see their friends. It's a big thing. (From my experience living in suburbs of Chicago for a year)
