You state:

The City's adopted Housing Element identifies the need for 82,002 new housing units through 2021. Last October, Mayor Eric Garcetti pledged to surpass these numbers by setting the goal to produce 100,000 new housing units by 2021.

Comments:

Housing Element is densified beyond the zoning code in every Community Plan and does not reflect any relationship to existing infrastructure or the needs for future infrastructure. Operations and Maintenance funding is not addressed in this overstatement of housing.

Metropolitan Planning Organizations or SCAG, in this case, is tasked with calculating Regional Housing Needs Assessment RHNA. Their assessment is approved by the California Department of Housing and Community Development.

RHNA was approved through 2021 with an allocation of Household Growth of 82,002 or 19.9% of the SCAG regional total.

The cities are required to file Housing Element Annual Progress Reports with the state department. The City's last report filed was in 2012 (attached). The public is unable to see if the City has complied.

At this point, the City should be reviewing the Housing Element for site identification, not parking lots. Households are delineated by exact number needed and categorized:

Very Low Income Households- 20,427
Low Income Households- 12,435
Moderate Income Households- 13,728

An enabling Ordinance creating a new type of supplemental use district, called a Community Plan Implementation Overlay (CPIO) district was adopted in 2012. 5 Community Plans were developed, which considered mixed-use nodes and boulevards and requiring mixed-use (and/or ground-floor commercial) in appropriate areas through the use of CPIOs, along with design standards for mixed-use developments. DCP has recently proposed a modification to Residential Planned Development Districts (PD), which were designed mostly for master-planned single-family neighborhoods. The proposal is to accommodate a broader range of infill and mixed-use development. Mixed-Use Overlay Districts, an older supplemental zone, has not been effective and has largely been supplanted by RAS zones and CPIOs.

Zoning and Development Standards for Shelters	Adopt amendment to Zoning Code to facilitate by-right siting of shelter and transitional housing facilities	2008-2014	The City Zoning Code meets the requirements of State law, wherein under SB 2 transitional and supportive housing meeting the Health and Safety Code definition of a regular rental housing development should be treated no different than any other rental housing in the same zone. The requirement applies not only to multi-family housing but also single-family housing. Based on the Health and Safety Code definition of regular rental development (five or more units in a development and not one of the units can be owner-occupied), transitional and supportive housing can be placed in single-family zones, utilizing a group of single-family homes.
Zoning for Health Facilities	Adopt amendment to Zoning Code to remove restrictions on locations of public health and treatment program facilities	2008-2014	A Community Care Facilities Ordinance has been proposed, which seeks to amend the City Code to be consistent with the California Community Care Facilities Act. In recent years, LAHSA has been implementing various programs to ensure that outreach is expanded. LAHSA, in collaboration with the City and County of Los Angeles is building regional systems of care that will provide coordinated assessments for receipt of homeless services, prevents homelessness by helping families remain within their communities and retain their current non-shelter housing, or diverts people to housing options other than homeless shelters. The first step in this process was the Family Transitions Project (FTP), which streamlined intake of homeless families seeking motel vouchers during the winter months, resulting in improved coordination and more families being diverted away from homelessness and being rapidly rehoused in permanent housing. Building on the success of the FTP, LAHSA, in partnership with the City and County of Los Angeles, is pooling resources to fund the Family Solutions Centers (FSC), which will provide coordinated entry, intake assessment, and housing and supportive services interventions to homeless families and families at-risk of homelessness across the various regions of Los Angeles County. In collaboration with mainstream resources and targeted homeless resources, this new integrated Countywide system will provide the appropriate level of services and housing to each family in need. The ultimate goals of this coordinated system will be to divert families from becoming homeless and to end families' homelessness as rapidly as possible.
