Summary: Communication, clearly defined roles and continuity are three known hallmarks of effective organizational management and leadership. Any formal policy and protocols established by the City of Los Angeles to standardize the procedure in which an elected official transitions their administration of the people's business to a successor should yield positive outcomes. Los Feliz supports this motion and other local legislation promulgated to require and ensure "orderly transitions" of governmental leadership. We advise the City Council to act with all due haste in establishing such a plan and attach a formal resolution detailing how said policy would not only be to the public's benefit, but how the current lack of a clear policy has proven to be an onerous public detriment and cause for derision.
