Education is the only thing that will save these animals. We Educate thru Entertainment. The best thing we can do for our future generations is to allow them to experience the intelligence and joy of all the creatures in our world. There is no better place for this to happen than our Zoos and Aquariums and Animal Parks. Showing a child an animal in a book will never instill the need to protect them in the wild.

Instead of shutting down educational and entertainment facilities for animals, help them grow to bring more to the masses. Allow these facilities to expand and create a environment the nurtures protection for future generations.
