I am writing to express my support for accessory dwelling units. We live in a new type of society where the nuclear family is not right for everyone, and many people are getting married later, staying single, and putting off having families. While one could say these singles and couples could live in apartments, even those of us who cannot afford an entire home still crave to have a space that we own, that belongs to us. Movable tiny homes, and smaller scale ADUs are necessary in today's world and economy of high rent and unstable work environments. I urge you to allow current land owners liberal use of their property for ADUs and tiny homes.

Dear Planning and Land Use Committee,

I'd like to express my support for the Accessory Dwelling Units ordinance and for increasing options for locating movable tiny houses in Los Angeles.

I live in my RV and I am considering buying a piece of land to build a sustainable and affordable small house so I can live comfortably with my family while decreasing impact on the environment.

Thank you,

Dear LA County Board of Supervisors

I am making a comment regarding council file 16- 1468

I want to express my gratitude that you are pushing forward with the ADU ordinance easing requirements such as parking/locating, and adding language for movable tiny houses. I fear without this ADU ordinance LA will not meet all needs for affordable housing that exists in LA county so you should increase ease of developing affordable ADUs, including options such as movable tiny houses that can be placed on a foundation system, like those used with manufactured housing. The tiny house on wheels options is doable and greatly needed in the Los Angeles housing market. I am a single mother and I have already gone through homelessness once, please assist me in gaining a new affordable housing option through tiny houses as an ADU. I dream of affording a house of my own and raising my son in a home with access to green space and a backyard movable tiny ADU will help me do that. However, as a former preschool teacher and current social worker for the homeless on skid row my single income household cant keep up with the rising cost of living in the city i was born in. Look to other progressive cities that are moving forward with language and policies that help the tiny house communities (Ojai California , Seattle Washington , Spur Texas, Portland Oregon etc.).

Thank you,

Mercedes Crawford

Dear PLUM Committee,

As I will be unable to attend in person tomorrow's PLUM meeting, I'm writing this email to show my support for including Movable Tiny Houses as acceptable ADU's in Los Angeles.

I'm a single creative professional woman running a business in Los Angeles, and like many others, it's been a dream of mine to own a home. Unfortunately, the current LA housing market, with its super sized houses and prized to match, has placed this dream firmly out of my reach. And should rents continue to rise as they have in the past few years, I very well could also find myself priced out of the rental market in the near future. There simply aren't enough affordable housing options in Los Angeles.

I love living here and having access to more affordable housing options such as ADU's that include Movable Tiny Houses, I could not only afford to stay in Los Angeles but also achieve a life long dream of owning my very own home.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Sincerely,

Isabelle LaRue

Hello,

I'd like to add my comment regarding the ADU ordinance in support of the addition of language for tiny homes. I am an Active Duty service member, currently stationed in Los Angeles, and I'm looking forward to staying here after I separate, but it will highly depend on finding affordable housing to get me through my transition to civilian life. I'm in the process of building a tiny home and look forward to being able to legally park it in LA, and continue to be a part of this vibrant community.

Very respectfully,

Dear Planning and Land Use Committee,

I want to express my support for moveable tiny homes being legal units for dwelling.

My story is that I have moved five times in ten years. Three times a family member of my landlord needed a place and since I always rent nice places my apartment was the one. I am tired of renting. I want a home, albeit tiny, that is all mine. I want my son to have a stable bedroom and home. We currently pay enormous rent in an RV/trailer park. It is equal to a house. We are a self contained solar and composting bus conversion with no need for access to city water or power and could easily make the transition. I wish I could park as an accessory dwelling at a lower cost so I could afford to give my son the middle class upbringing my parents gave to me.

Thank you for your consideration,
Ms S Stokes
