

Google Groups

Re: PLUM agenda re: Accessory Dwelling Units

16-1468

Riley McCluskey

Jun 8, 2017 3:21 PM

Posted in group: Clerk-PLUM-Committee

Got it, thank you so much Sharon! Super helpful.

On Thu, Jun 8, 2017 at 7:19 AM, Sharon Dickinson <sharon.dickinson@lacity.org> wrote:

The Planning Department works with the City Attorney's Office to draft Ordinances for Planning related items. You might want to contact the Planning Department and ask who the Planner is handling Accessory Dwelling Units. I believe the Planning Department does outreach to the community for input. You can also contact the City Attorney's Office, Land Use Division to inquire the status of the Ordinance. When the Ordinance is ready for Council to approve, the item will be scheduled for the PLUM Committee first. PLUM will then make a recommendation for Council consideration. The item is then scheduled for Council, whose has the final vote on approving or disapproving the Ordinance. If Council approves, the Ordinance goes to the Mayor for signature (in which the Mayor has 30 days to sign). Once the Mayor signs, the Ordinance will go into effect 41 days after the Ordinance is posted.

Hope this information is helpful.

Sharon

On Tuesday, June 6, 2017 at 5:23:07 PM UTC-7, Riley McCluskey wrote:

Hi,

I have been researching city policy on Accessory Dwelling Units and understand that the PLUM Committee is responsible for drafting requests to the city attorney re: city ordinances that may supersede new state regulations. I wanted to inquire about how this process works, its timing, who makes final decisions on the regulations, etc. Is there someone you can put me in touch with to learn more?

Thank you very much!

Best,
Riley

--
Riley McCluskey
Upfront Ventures | Associate
(310) 463-5215

--
Riley McCluskey
Upfront Ventures | Associate
(310) 463-5215

Google Groups

---

Re: PLUM agenda re: Accessory Dwelling Units

---

Sharon Dickinson

Jun 8, 2017 7:19 AM

Posted in group: Clerk-PLUM-Committee

The Planning Department works with the City Attorney's Office to draft Ordinances for Planning related items. You might want to contact the Planning Department and ask who the Planner is handling Accessory Dwelling Units. I believe the Planning Department does outreach to the community for input. You can also contact the City Attorney's Office, Land Use Division to inquire the status of the Ordinance. When the Ordinance is ready for Council to approve, the item will be scheduled for the PLUM Committee first. PLUM will then make a recommendation for Council consideration. The item is then scheduled for Council, whose has the final vote on approving or disapproving the Ordinance. If Council approves, the Ordinance goes to the Mayor for signature (in which the Mayor has 30 days to sign). Once the Mayor signs, the Ordinance will go into effect 41 days after the Ordinance is posted.

Hope this information is helpful.
Sharon

On Tuesday, June 6, 2017 at 5:23:07 PM UTC-7, Riley McCluskey wrote:

Hi,

I have been researching city policy on Accessory Dwelling Units and understand that the PLUM Committee is responsible for drafting requests to the city attorney re: city ordinances that may supersede new state regulations. I wanted to inquire about how this process works, its timing, who makes final decisions on the regulations, etc. Is there someone you can put me in touch with to learn more?

Thank you very much!

Best,
Riley

--
Riley McCluskey
Upfront Ventures | Associate
(310) 463-5215