Comments for Public Posting: Dear Council Members: The Temporary Wall Signs program has become a public nuisance. Temporary wall signs with ads attached often now surround functioning businesses. Also, ad-burdened temporary walls often remain in place long after active construction has ceased on a lot. Many of these signs carry alcohol messages that impact the community and they need to be regulated. Both of these uses violate the original intent of the law, and they make our environment more ugly. The Dept. of Building and Safety, in its memo dated February 22, 2018, suggested some measures to beef up enforcement and ensure that temporary wall signs meet only their intended purposes. We support the DBS proposals. They should be included in a new city ordinance governing temporary wall signs.
