Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city. I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters.

Having said that, I am all on board for having some sort of regulation around these electric scooters. They should not be allowed on the sidewalk, they are overbearing and the riders are not considerate. Yet they can't be allowed on the street as they slow traffic. Maybe a bike lane only idea would work. I don't envy your position as I understand the difficulty in how to move forward with electric scooters.

Ultimately, I am all for them but I think there needs to be better regulation around them. Unfortunately I don't have a solution around that regulation. Hoping you and your team will find that solution. Best of luck in your ongoing endeavors and the rest of 2018!

Thank you for all your hard work and support!

Thank you,

There are for sure issues that need to be resolved but banning them is not the way to start fixing these. Address the most egregious problems to start and follow up with a more studied set of regulations if needed.

We have too many traffic problems in LA to not keep every option available and on the table for discussion.

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I love using these shared electric scooters but I do think they need some frameworks to ensure the scooters don't litter our streets and block our sidewalks. I saw someone on a scooter yesterday - it was an accident waiting to happen; the guy had no helmet, headphones on, checking his phone and traveling at full pace along the street. Our police need to monitor and fine for lack of helmet use and any other violations that a driver would incur, including poorly parked scooters. Traveling along sidewalks is even more dangerous.

Let's find a way to keep scooters available, but balanced with keeping our streets safe.

Thank you,

Paul

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

My friends and I use these as a great alternative to cars, and they also lead to more social interactions and commerce as we are encouraged to go out more due to the convenience of Birds.

I hope you will continue to support them as well.

Thank you,
Jennifer Greenwood

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

I also believe that these alternative modes of transportation need to be better incorporated into the transit network, so failures like the MyFugueoa bike lanes are not repeated. These alternatives to cars should be prioritized because they can positively impact both urban life and traffic.

Thank you,

P.S

We should move in order to save our planet. Global warming can no longer be ignored. As one of the biggest cities in the world Los Angeles should lead by example. This week temperatures in Europe are going to reach a record breaking 115F.

I encourage you to start a program in LA in order to minimize emissions in the city, create no-car days and encourage people to use bikes and scooters instead of gas guzzling G wagons for short drives.

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

I just moved to LA from Columbus where one of the projects I started and continues today with Ohio State is 'Recovery Deserts.'

This project layers public health indicators of the opioid epidemic (EMS runs, Narcan administration, OD fatalities) on a map of the city along with treatment centers and transportation options.

While still early in the process, it is clear that lack of access via public transportation is a serious challenge for person in addiction and recovery to adhere to their program.

This challenge is addressable with viable Last Mile options like ride and scooter sharing programs.

I hope this perspective helps.

I'm new to LA but find myself using Lyft and Bird more than my car to get around. And I always wear a helmet.

Warmly,
David All

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Electric scooters are completely out of control. My 3 year old daughter walked out of an ice cream shop and came within 6 inches of getting hit by a bird scooter going full speed down the sidewalk. It's only a matter of time before a child is killed by one of these jerks.

I highly recommend a ban on these scooters. If that's not possible, perhaps you can require riders to wear helmets and that could act as an effective ban.

Thank you,
Tom Boldt

Electric scooters have helped me and my girlfriend explore the various neighborhoods of this city like never before. For people with physical disabilities , biking and walking for any extended period can be painful or impossible. We are so happy to be exploring this city, before we would drive from point a to point b, and now we realize how much we were missing on the way. We hope they can continue to be a part of life for angelenos, thank you all for all your work.

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city. I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters.

Having said that, I am all on board for having some sort of regulation around these electric scooters. They should not be allowed on the sidewalk, they are overbearing and the riders are not considerate. Yet they can't be allowed on the street as they slow traffic. Maybe a bike lane only idea would work. I don't envy your position as I understand the difficulty in how to move forward with electric scooters.

Ultimately, I am all for them but I think there needs to be better regulation around them. Unfortunately I don't have a solution around that regulation. Hoping you and your team will find that solution. Best of luck in your ongoing endeavors and the rest of 2018!

Thank you for all your hard work and support!

Thank you,
Thomas Bawden

There are for sure issues that need to be resolved but banning them is not the way to start fixing these. Address the most egregious problems to start and follow up with a more studied set of regulations if needed.

We have too many traffic problems in LA to not keep every option available and on the table for discussion.

I'm writing to make a plea that you not interfere with the positive changes shared scooters are making in the community.

I know personally my life has been bettered by this new transportation option. I go out much more regularly into the neighborhood where driving and the difficulty parking would have been enough more unpleasant to not bother or to go only to specific places I know would be ok. This had made me feel much more connected to the area, made it feel less like islands of accessible places, and made any transportation experience so much more pleasant.

Please don't step in and stop these improvements because of the complaints of a few and a resistance to change.

Dear Mayor / City Councilmembers,

I support eco-friendly and affordable transportation. I think Los Angeles should lead the way instead of restrict or compromise where other cities will embrace and out shine us otherwise.

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

Bird is dangerous and it's an accident waiting to happen. There are too many riders who do not wear helmets nor obey any local traffic regulations. Many times over I've seen lots of people riding together (ie 2 people on a Bird scooter with no helmets and breaking traffic law such as don't stop at stop sign).

Another issue is that after they finish the ride, they would just leave the scooter every where, blocking the pedestrian walkways, blocking bike paths, causing bike riders to swivel to avoid hitting them).

I've also seen parents riding with young child and neither of them were wearing helmets. I've also seen people fighting each other to collect these scooters at night since they can obtain monetary compensation for charging each one so now we have more crime in the city (we already have enough of these in L.A.).

Please follow San Francisco city and ban all scooters altogether without granting them any permits.

Thank you,
Edward

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I am worried the reaction of banning or limiting of motor scooters by an older segment of the population like seem to be the most common voices of opposition, to a form of transportation that is new & foreign to them will put the city of Los Angeles on the wrong side of history with this debate.

If we can allow a program like Citibike or comparable operate in Los Angeles, we should do the same for the motor scooter companies.

I personally love the bird scooters and have found I use them more than Uber, Lyft or my car these days. The ease of use, availability and connivence make the motorized scooter share apps game changers in the world of personal transportation.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

Thank you,

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Please work with Bird and other dock-less transportation services to help ease some of the car traffic in the city. It's not a perfect solution, but sure beats any other options currently available. There must be some solutions to make it work for everyone.

Thank you,

In addition to Bird's email below, I would like the city to explore solutions to complaints, rather than limit Bird's growth. LA has an opportunity to be a pioneer in the mobility revolution. Not to mention support the growth of the next major job creation engine for LAs tech community. Bike lanes, dedicated parking spaces, are all options to support Bird to the benefit of every citizen.

There are solutions to every problem. Instead of eliminating choice from consumers, please find ways to accommodate the preference of consumers while also addressing the concerns of other stakeholders.

This is a major opportunity for the city of LA.

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

Thank you,

Dear congressman/ city official

As a resident of Los Angeles for the past 15 years I have seen more and more people on the road every day, traffic becoming more congested and the air quality seems to be getting worst every year.

This year global warming caused heat waves all over the world with record breaking temperatures in California and other major cities in US and Europe.

I know about the Green LA program but it seems like not enough is being done.

We need to reduce CO2 emissions now not tomorrow, not in 2030 but today!

I just recently learned about cities all over Los Angeles County trying to ban transportation like "bird" and "lime" scooters and other dock-lees, green, sustainable transportation available.

You should encourage green, sustainable and easy transportation throughout the city instead of banning them and encouraging gas guzzling G wagons and other SUVs driving all over the city with one passenger going to get a Starbucks or a blow dry.

This is absurd!

The city should ban these cars from ever driving on our roads, polluting our environment, taking space and causing noise nuisances where ever they drive.

I encourage you to do act now before it is too late, climate change is already here!

Best regards,

Rafi Mizrahi

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Bird is a great “last mile” option for public transport. I have been car free for over a year and it was starting to become untenable but having bird around makes it a notch easier to be car less in Los Angeles.

Let's come up with safety rules but not hinder the continued development or availability of this helpful concept.

Thank you,
James Ford

PS- ever since bird has come to my city, I have stopped driving completely. Additionally my walking has increased from 5000 steps daily to 12000 steps daily which has improved my overall health and well being. Bird is the best thing that has happened to LA in a very long time.

Dearest Mayor and City Council members,

I voted for you and many members of the city council in the last elections and I want to thank you for seeing our city improve in many areas including education, sustainability, and safety on our streets.

But as a native Angeleno we still face the problem of traffic congestion. This year I literally gave up owning a car in hopes I can avoid traffic and lessen the footprint I have on traffic and instead use other means to transport such as Uber, lyft, the metro, and now BIRD - Scooters. They have helped me in so many ways to travel short and medium distances that not only prevents traffic but also the use of gas and pollution. I have been able to save money that can be best used in other areas of the economy instead of towards big oil companies.

Please I know the introduction of Birds on our local street came all of a sudden, but give it some patience and don't be afraid of change. Change is constant and we must adapt before we rule to quickly to gauge the pros and cons of something new. Birds are very affordable for the lower class and students. I live in Westwood and I can speak first hand of the thousands of students who depend upon bird to get around.

Please give Bird some more time and see the benefits, and also see how angelenos are actually earning wages to charge them. Thats jobs!!! That's more dollars for our local economy.

Thank you kindly,

Dallas King

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

Thank you,
Saori Kamimura

Plus parking in the city is just ridiculous I have to pay for everything and I don't want to take the bus because it's not flexible to the location I want to go buy. They are fun and safe. And most off all we can help reduce the carbon footprint in California. Please don't take them away!

Dear General Manager Reynolds, Mayor, and City Councilmembers,

Bird has given me an affordable, sustainable, and convenient alternative to driving or using ride-share when I need to get around. Strictly limiting the number of Birds on our streets with an arbitrary cap would only make them harder to find, forcing me back into the car. Please do not put arbitrary limits on this great new transportation option so I can continue to rely on Bird as a sustainable and affordable alternative to sitting in traffic.

Thank you,
Shiran Mikael

Dear General Manager Reynolds, Mayor, and City Councilmembers,

Bird has given me an affordable, sustainable, and convenient alternative to driving or using ride-share when I need to get around. Strictly limiting the number of Birds on our streets with an arbitrary cap would only make them harder to find, forcing me back into the car. Please do not put arbitrary limits on this great new transportation option so I can continue to rely on Bird as a sustainable and affordable alternative to sitting in traffic.

Thank you,
Ryan Altman

Dear General Manager Reynolds, Mayor, and City Councilmembers,

Bird has given me an affordable, sustainable, and convenient alternative to driving or using ride-share when I need to get around. Strictly limiting the number of Birds on our streets with an arbitrary cap would only make them harder to find, forcing me back into the car. Please do not put arbitrary limits on this great new transportation option so I can continue to rely on Bird as a sustainable and affordable alternative to sitting in traffic.

Thank you,
Abisai Flores

Dear General Manager Reynolds, Mayor, and City Councilmembers,

Bird has given me an affordable, sustainable, and convenient alternative to driving or using ride-share when I need to get around. Strictly limiting the number of Birds on our streets with an arbitrary cap would only make them harder to find, forcing me back into the car. Please do not put arbitrary limits on this great new transportation option so I can continue to rely on Bird as a sustainable and affordable alternative to sitting in traffic.

Thank you,
Tatiana Chahine

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

Thank you,
Luis Quintana

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Bird helps me transport myself with less money, and it is incredibly fun. In my opinion, all the people whom I have come across who do not support bird are all older people who do not have the troubles young people like me do. They can afford driving a car from point A to point B without worrying about the price of gas. As a college student, I cannot afford to have a car or some of the prices of Uber/Lift. Bird has been such a blessing for me. In addition, most of the older population just seems to cannot handle change in the city, not even if Bird is actually helping people make up to $100 a day.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

Thank you,

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

Thank you,
Sean Pinsonneault

Public Comment Against Koretz's Motion 17-1125-S3: Electric Scooter Cease-and-Desist

RE: Council File 17-1125-S3

Dear City Councilmembers,

I urge you to reject Councilmember Paul Koretz's motion to ban the use of shared mobility devices within the City of Los Angeles, and instead, following passage through the Public Works Committee, to adopt the Transportation Committee's pilot program as the first step in a good-faith effort to make cheap zero-emission, traffic-free vehicles ubiquitous across the City of Los Angeles and to provide the infrastructure required for their success.

Public Safety

The City of Los Angeles should treat these shared mobility devices as it does bicycles: sidewalk riding must be legal, helmet usage should not be mandatory, and enforcement should be based on the quantitative risk these devices present to the public rather than on an instinctive outrage. Complaints of blocked sidewalks and inappropriate parking ultimately reflect the near-total lack of infrastructure the City of Los Angeles has seen fit to dedicate to non-automobile modes (even walking, where basic maintenance was delayed for so long it resulted in a $1.4B settlement to fix the sidewalks), and can be resolved by redesignating a tiny fraction of Los Angeles's abundant, and legally-mandated, free street automobile parking space across the city for the use of scooters, bicycles, and other non-automotive users.

Sidewalk riding reflects the instinctive awareness of riders – if not of this council or the Mayor's office – that Los Angeles's streets have been intentionally shaped into high-speed expressways and that scooter riders (or cyclists, or pedestrians) will be hit and killed by cars should they have the temerity to venture into them. Sidewalk riding can be reduced by providing exactly the sort of dedicated, separated, protected travel lanes that this council approved in the Mobility Plan 2035, that Councilmembers Koretz and Ryu have tirelessly fought to block and remove from their districts, and that Mayor Garcetti and LADOT head Seleta Reynolds have refused to take seriously, with installations down 90% as compared with the Villaraigosa administration. If this council seeks to criminalize sidewalk riding and promote a victim-blaming campaign around "recklessness" and "helmet enforcement" in the full knowledge that it has not provided any safe alternatives, it will result in the deaths of more Angelenos who try to follow its rules and will continue the recent trend of $10M+ liability settlements with families of the deceased.

Helmet usage bears only a minimal relationship to "safety" and this council's belief that it should be enforced through police action will predictably:

- (1) severely depress usage of these modes. It is unrealistic to ask users or companies to provide helmets for short point-to-point trips; this council should ask itself whether it should similarly pass an ordinance forbidding walking or jogging in Los Angeles without use of a helmet.
- (2) exacerbate disparities in the equitable uses of these modes by providing an easy rationale for police officers to stop, harass, and fine riders of color.
- (3) divert law enforcement resources and attention away from controlling commonplace illegal behaviors with known lethal impacts, like the rampant violation of crosswalks and pedestrian right-of-ways by drivers, drivers' endemic cellphone usage, and drivers' ever-present speeding abetted by rising speed limits.

European countries like Germany and the Netherlands that have chosen to promote safety of all road users through appropriate roadway changes have pedestrian and rider death rates that are 70% lower than the United States, despite helmet usage that is literally 30 times higher in the United States (30% versus 1% in Europe). "Common-sense" helmet laws empirically do nothing to improve safety and serve as a politically expedient form of victim-blaming that shifts the burden of street safety entirely to those least able to guarantee it.

The strategies Koretz cries out for to eliminate electric scooters – demands for a crackdown on their use, the criminalization of non-drivers, and a ban on any roadway changes other than speed limit increases – are the strategies of a status quo that has already failed spectacularly. Los Angeles has followed this playbook to a tee for the past 5 years and been rewarded with crippling automobile traffic, plunging Metro ridership, and pedestrian/cyclist deaths that are rising out of control even as Vision Zero initiatives stall completely.

244 pedestrians, cyclists, and motorcyclists were hit and killed by automobile drivers on Los Angeles's streets in 2017, marking a body count up 30% in the past two years alone and a staggering 80% for pedestrians (to 134 pedestrian fatalities per year). Zero scooters were involved. Every day that Paul Koretz, this council, and Mayor Garcetti refuse to engage with this reality – automobile drivers keep killing non-drivers on urban streets that the city has deliberately designed as highways – in favor of a self-serving sensationalism that pins all blame on reckless pedestrians run amok, or reckless cyclists run amok, or now reckless scooters run amok, marks another day of blood on the streets.

Global Warming and Air Pollution

The passage of this proposed electric scooter ban will mark the complete abdication of Los Angeles's "climate leadership," a concept that Koretz, and apparently this council, support in practice only to the extent that it reinforces an automotive-dependent suburban lifestyle. Transport emissions now comprise the largest single source of California's greenhouse gas emissions (41%) and are increasing in absolute terms (to 176 million metric tons CO₂e in 2016) despite legislative efforts at the state and local levels to ensure their reduction. After years of improvements, ozone and air-pollution levels bottomed out across Southern California in 2015 and have resumed their climb as automobile travel rises, with 2017 marking a full 146 days of federal ozone violations across SCAQMD and increasing particulate levels. Air pollution generated across Los Angeles's wealthy Westside contributes directly to asthma and reduced life expectancy across Southern California, with a heavy impact on poor and largely Latino communities in East Los Angeles, Riverside, and San Bernardino.

At a state level, AB 32 and SB 32 commit California to a politically aggressive (yet still environmentally insufficient) goal of reducing greenhouse emissions in 2030 to 40% below their 1990 levels. This goal is unattainable without reductions in overall automobile emissions, the state is not on track to meet it, and the California Air Resources Board has acknowledged in its 2017 Scoping Plan that it cannot be met with currently forecasted electric automobile deployment alone. These forecasts rely on continued costly state and local government investments into electric automobile use, including billions into charging infrastructure, heavy subsidies for electric automobile purchase (currently $10,000/vehicle in California), as well as future technological and cost improvements in their manufacturing. Such subsidies reduce the funding available to expand public transit, an alternative source of low-carbon transportation – funding which will be under threat as soon as November should California voters pass Proposition 6, as polling indicates they will.

Most worryingly, these forecasts implicitly assume California will maintain the ability to control its pollution and greenhouse gas policy. Trump's EPA, under new acting chief Andrew Wheeler, moved decisively on August 2 to revoke that authority. By this time next year, the City of Los Angeles and the State of California may find themselves unable to set legally enforceable emissions targets.

Legalizing electric scooters and electric bikes provides a subsidy-free means by which the City of Los Angeles can begin to meet its climate goals without danger of federal preemption. Gasoline automobiles produce carbon emissions 100 times higher per mile traveled than an electric scooter; even the electrical usage of an electric car yields about 25 times more carbon emissions per mile than a scooter. Electric scooters and electric bikes are ideally suited to short-range trips (on order of 2 miles) and contribute minimally to traffic congestion, making them ideally suited to solving public transit's "last-mile problem" for longer trips. (This is in contrast to the ridesharing services permitted by this council, which directly cannibalize public transit usage at all trip lengths and, by "deadheading," contribute even more to congestion than a typical car.) They require far less roadway surface and parking than an automobile, enabling more efficient usage of existing limited street space, and inflict exponentially less roadway wear than cars.

In January of this year, Koretz called for an "Climate Emergency Mobilization Department," saying:

"We're out of time. We can't keep waiting around thinking, once it gets bad enough, we'll have enough time to do something. We're here today to tell you, it's bad enough now," said Paul Koretz, lead proponent of the idea, at a press conference. "We are out of time and need to act, quickly and boldly, like the very planet beneath our feet depends upon it. Like our home depends upon it. Because it does."

Councilmember Blumenfield added:

"The sad reality is that due to climate change, as well as a deliberate lack of environmental leadership out of Washington, it is up to us to lead and ensure that we are doing everything possible to reduce our carbon footprint and clean our environment."

Seven months later – and even as Trump’s administration has declared all-out war on California’s air pollution and greenhouse-gas controls, and even as Los Angeles bakes in the unrelenting record heat of a globally-warmed summer, and even as the ash from California’s burning forests and inland towns chokes skies across the West – Koretz, most of this Council, and Mayor Garcetti have proven themselves totally unable to match their words to any action even remotely of the scale required to address the climate crisis, and vehemently opposed to any action that would legalize alternatives to an automobile-dependent suburban lifestyle within Los Angeles’s urban core. Declining to ban electric scooters is the smallest imaginable step the Los Angeles City Council can take toward reconciling its rhetoric with reality.

Sincerely,
Benjamin Steele

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

The introduction of Bird to my local area (Palms) has had a huge positive impact for me. I used to try to limit my trips outside the house because I needed to drive to everything. Now I'm able to quickly use a bird to reach Culver City and the surrounding areas, and I find myself out and about much more frequently. Please, support the use of these types of transportation options in the future!

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These devices are a fantastic, innovative idea that has attracted many people to get out of the house and out of their cars in Los Angeles. Scooter shares are easy to use, convenient because they can be picked up and dropped off easily, much more convenient than bike shares, and are a better solution to the “last mile” problem of getting to and from the nearest public transport. I personally have taken Birds for short trips when I normally would have driven my car before they were available.

I’m hopeful that the cities of LA, Culver City, and Santa Monica can come to an agreement with Bird/Lime and other scooter services to continue to allow the public to utilize shared scooters to supplement public transport systems and reduce traffic for all.

Thank you,

Sarah Boatwright

Dear General Manager Reynolds, Mayor, and City Councilmembers,

Bird has given me an affordable, sustainable, and convenient alternative to driving or using ride-share when I need to get around. Strictly limiting the number of Birds on our streets with an arbitrary cap would only make them harder to find, forcing me back into the car. Please do not put arbitrary limits on this great new transportation option so I can continue to rely on Bird as a sustainable and affordable alternative to sitting in traffic.

Thank you,
Btrium Norwood

Dear Mayor and City Councilmembers,

Thank you for your ongoing leadership and thoughtful attention to the many issues facing our city, especially reducing traffic by allowing more multimodal transportation options.

I want to let you know that I support shared electric scooters. These innovative new modes of transportation are affordable and environmentally-friendly.

As we plan for a more sustainable future, we need to embrace innovation that makes our city greener and our streets less crowded with bumper-to-bumper car traffic.

Thank you,
Henry Swan
