Comments for Public Posting: The permitting of homeless encampments in and around Los Angeles is inhuman treatment of those on the streets as well as of those who live and work near them. To permit humans to relieve themselves and sleep in their faces like rodents and to disregard that they are in need of immediate medical and psychological treatment is inhuman. The allowing of sick people to sleep as stray animals do on the streets is tantamount to facilitating sick children who do not have the wherewithal to make sound medical decisions for themselves, to be left to suffer and/or die. State and City officials allowing the homeless population as well as the innocent public to be subject to diseases that were eradicated hundreds of years ago is barbaric. Government officials who allow for this dirty and disgusting life on the streets of Los Angeles by flashing the homeless ' rights, facilitate these people to self harm and to harm others. Government officials whom the public has entrusted, instead are politicising agendas in deference to the needs and rights to safe and clean environments for both the homeless and those who live and work nearby. The federal government provided hundreds of millions of dollars to allow for safe housing for the homeless. As a temporary fix, has there been consideration of quickly creating areas on the outskirts of Los Angeles where temporary housing can be erected? Where land can be farmed by the homeless so that they are given a sense of purpose and a source of food? Where medical and psychological treatment can be provided? The homeless do not have a right nor should be given a choice to hurt themselves or others. Before our eyes there is the societal crumbling of respect of humanity, communal mores and the fabric of modern day existence. Government officials must effectuate a deserved respectful life of those on and off the streets and who are determined to return a sense of order and safety to was once upon a time. a beautiful place to live and thrive. If this does not occur, there will be a guaranteed exodus of Los Angeles citizenry, leaving a serfdom of the impoverished, homeless, crime, untreatable illnesses and dirt.
