Comments for Public Posting: I understand the situation of homeless in LA. This will be the biggest issue in the future of LA city to handle. I am sure the situation will get worse everyday unless the politicians doesn't bring the solution soon. They need safe place to sleep as well as we do as homeowners. My suggestion is the city provide big selter like tent village(this is perfect in California weather) out of the LA city and provide them job training whoever wants to get out of the situation. The tent village will be equipped with small garden so that they can farm there own vegetables, this will give them satisfaction both emotionally and financially. City can buy the vegetables which will give them extra income. This village like camping site will have power and shower facility. They just need to stay longer not like campers until they are ready to get job in the town. I respect for those who work for the rights of the homeless. But I wish they remember residents also have same rights to sleep and live in safe place. Thank you.
