Comments for Public Posting: This can not continue. Allowing homeless to live and grow communities on the street has become a matter of public safety. There is urine, feces, dirty needles, and trash lining the streets. They wander into the parking lot of my child's preschool, smoke crack by the entrance, and have no problem approaching my vehicle while I'm loading my kid into our car. Enough is enough. When will the law shift back to common sense and protecting the public? We can not allow them to infest this city. It's not safe for anyone. We will never build enough housing at the rate they're flocking to Los Angeles to live rent free on the streets. We absolutely have to say it's no longer acceptable, by schools at the very least!!
