Comments for Public Posting: The evictions this seeks to address are happening every day. This disturbing wave is driven by landlord response to new state legislation. The city can no longer let people's lives be upended because their landlord thinks they can make a bigger profit by cycling tenants in the short term and jacking up rents. I hope that the council will move urgently on this matter, and continue building a legal and planning architecture that prioritizes protecting tenants and expanding affordable housing options.
