Summary: The Los Feliz Neighborhood Council is proud of its history of calling out injustice, speaking truth to power, and “doing the right thing.” It is in that spirit that the LFNC supports efforts to vacate the 2017 World Series title and record the 2017 Major League Baseball season as championless. While some would argue that professional sports scandals lie outside of the purview of government action, the LFNC believes that the values inspired by honest athletic endeavor – such as playing by the rules – are essential to the survival of a democracy. At a time when the occupant of the most powerful office in our country shows blatant disregard, even hostility, towards the rule of law, the LFNC applauds this opportunity to reaffirm our commitment to fair play, hard work, and honest competition. Such convictions also force us to refrain from calling for the Dodgers to be named champions of the 2017 or 2018 seasons or to agree to the vacation of the 2018 title until Major League Baseball can complete its investigation and urges the city council to amend its efforts accordingly. Los Feliz firmly believes that the Dodgers will be world champions again, but not via legal challenges or administrative appeals. Rather, our boys in blue will triumph through the ineffable beauty of a summer that begins with five magic words: it’s time for Dodger Baseball.
