INSTRUCTIONS ON HOW TO COMPLETE THE COVER SHEET

To Plaintiffs and Others Filing First Papers. If you are filing a first paper (for example, a complaint) in a civil case, you must complete and file, along with your first paper, the Civil Case Cover Sheet contained on page 1. This information will be used to compile statistics about the types and numbers of cases filed. You must complete items 1 through 6 on the sheet. In item 1, you must check one box for the case type that best describes the case. If the case fits both a general and a more specific type of case listed in item 1, check the more specific one. If the case has multiple causes of action, check the box that best indicates the primary cause of action. To assist you in completing the sheet, examples of the cases that belong under each case type in item 1 are provided below. A cover sheet must be filed only with your initial paper. Failure to file a cover sheet with the first paper filed in a civil case may subject a party, its counsel, or both to sanctions under rules 2.30 and 3.220 of the California Rules of Court.

To Parties in Rule 3.740 Collections Cases. A "collections case" under rule 3.740 is defined as an action for recovery of money owed in a sum stated to be certain that is not more than $25,000, exclusive of interest and attorney's fees, arising from a transaction in which property, services, or money was acquired on credit. A collections case does not include an action seeking the following: (1) tort damages, (2) punitive damages, (3) recovery of real property, (4) recovery of personal property, or (5) a prejudgment writ of attachment. The identification of a case as a rule 3.740 collections case on this form means that it will be exempt from the general time-for-service requirements and case management rules, unless a defendant files a responsive pleading. A rule 3.740 collections case will be subject to the requirements for service and obtaining a judgment in rule 3.740.

To Parties in Complex Cases. In complex cases only, parties must also use the Civil Case Cover Sheet to designate whether the case is complex. If a plaintiff believes the case is complex under rule 3.400 of the California Rules of Court, this must be indicated by completing the appropriate boxes in items 1 and 2. If a plaintiff designates a case as complex, the cover sheet must be served with the complaint on all parties to the action. A defendant may file and serve no later than the time of its first appearance a joinder in the plaintiff's designation, a counter-designation that the case is not complex, or, if the plaintiff has made no designation, a designation that the case is complex.

Topics: Jennifer Fox ♦ pepper spray

A woman who was pepper sprayed during a raid on Occupy Seattle last week is blaming police after she miscarried Sunday.

Jennifer Fox, 19, told The Stranger that she had been with the Occupy protests since they started in Westlake Park. She said she was homeless and three months pregnant, but felt the need to join activists during their march last Tuesday.

"I was standing in the middle of the crowd when the police started moving in," Fox recalled. "I was screaming, 'I am pregnant, I am pregnant. Let me through. I am trying to get out.'"

She claimed that police hit her in the stomach twice before pepper spraying her. One officer struck her with his foot and another pushed his bicycle into her. It wasn't clear if either of those incidents were intentional.

"Right before I turned, both cops lifted their pepper spray and sprayed me. My eyes puffed up and my eyes swelled shut," Fox said.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer photographer Joshua Trujillo snapped a picture of Fox in apparent agony as another activist carried her to an ambulance.

Seattle fire department spokesman Kyle Moore told The Washington Post that a 19-year-old pregnant woman was among those that were examined by paramedics.

While doctors at Harborview Medical Center didn't see any problems at the time, things took a turn for the worst Sunday.

"Everything was going okay until yesterday, when I started getting sick, cramps started, and I felt like I was going to pass out," she explained.

I LOST A CHILD TO THE ~~OCCUPY MOVEMENT.~~

Police Brutality

Just thirteen days ago I was eight months pregnant.

Everyone loved rubbing my belly.

I even wore my "Baby On Board" shirt over my gigantic stomach.

I was in a small group, assembled away from the massive crowd.

All we did was stand arm in arm, chanting, cheering, and laughing.

A large group of officers approached. They were headed for the larger crowds.

We expected to be passed by since it was just a couple of us.

I was all too wrong.

Four officers broke off from the pack and came our way.

There were about ten of us, completely unarmed. We became a target regardless.

The cops came up hollering about us being lazy and stupid.

A young lady in our group laughed out loud, and that's when all hell broke loose.

Two officers swung their batons at one end of our line, hitting the young lady and a young man. The other two officers started pushing us into a tight circle. I was shoved backward by my face, and I instinctively broke my hold in the line to put a hand on my stomach.

We were all forced into a tight bunch with the officers pushing and swinging their batons. I was hit with pepper spray on the back of my head, while others were hit point blank in the face. I tried to squeeze my way out, I was getting pushed around too much.

I made it outside of the bunch, but another officer was circling - and with my hands cradling my stomach - he slammed his baton into me. Pain shot through my hands, and I doubled over screaming. Then he landed the second more painful blow on my unprotected stomach.

Everything sort of went hazy, and I could hear the blood rushing in my head.

When I was able to focus I realized I was on the ground. I had wet myself, and an officer was upset that I had gotten his shoe wet. His baton hit my shoulder and then my wrist as I tried to protect myself.

The large crowd had gotten unruly, and it became a godsend. The three remaining officers left us alone. Everyone looked terrible with beet-red, swollen faces. Everything was loud and garbled. It all seemed so far away.

I was driven to the hospital, getting bloody urine all over a stranger's seats with people cradling me telling me everything was going to be OK.

I left the hospital with two broken fingers, a sprained wrist, bruised ribs, a destroyed camera, fresh clothes, four new friends, and nothing more.

There was no baby girl in my stomach.

Evelynn, the one good thing in my life, was taken from me before I could ever hold her.

I can't even look at myself in a mirror without crying.

Just thirteen days ago I was eight months pregnant.

Six days ago my friends were supposed to throw a baby shower for me.

Two days ago my ex-husband came by to call me a stupid bitch for getting an abortion.

Apparently everyone thinks I had an abortion and they all look at me differently, and they're showering my ex with sympathy. I won't even bother speaking to them.

Now I have nothing to lose, so when I'm given the green light, I'll be back on my feet and ready to go stand on the front lines.

But ladies, if you're pregnant, please stay at home.

The police don't care about you. They will show no mercy to you or your unborn child. They're only around to uphold the status of the 1%. They cannot be trusted.

In the 1970s Stanly Milgram demonstrated that everyone can be linked to everyone else with only six people between them. You see this in the Six Degrees of Separation movie and the Six Degrees of Kevin Bacon game. It is not what you will see here. The Smoking Gun books are practical applications of the association principle in human psychology and physiology. It's the principle that links the Bundy killer to movies and TV shows in hundreds of clusters unique to things that Mark Fuhrman said or did in two degrees of separation or less. It cannot be done with anyone other than Mark Fuhrman and the killer of Ron Goldman and Nicole Simpson.

If you know anything about "free association" and the law of probability you will know that Fuhrman has to be the killer. You will see that it can't be anyone else.

Popular wisdom has it that blacks and women have a unique advantage in the workplace because they can and do sue big companies for huge sums. Ironically, these are the stories that Ford Motor Co. wants you to hear. It has someone with money standing at the door of every congressman, senator, major news media outlet and major civil rights organization in America to make sure that you hear them. What you won't hear are the monumental issues raised in cases where large sums are not awarded to the plaintiffs who "win" their case because a jury is not allowed to hear it.

Outrageous? Yes. Absurd? Yes. True? Yes again. Ask your Senator about it.

Imagine a society where race change operations are routine for men like Clarence Thomas, where men like Ken Starr run all of America's political institutions and men like Rush Limbaugh are in charge of the media. Imagine what it would be like if they secretly operated a channel to any time or place in the past on a medium as realistic as an open window. Would you see their opponents the way we have seen Monica and Bill on TV? No, you'd see the real thing. .

Estelle Gidarb is a surgeon, a psychiatrist and a best-selling author. Ken Starr would see her as a great woman and Rush Limbaugh would see to it that all of us saw her his way—if they had the power. She lives in a future America where men like that have that kind of power. She has a G-rated solution to male sexual misconduct, pornography addiction and perverted ideas. It worked on her husband.... Estelle Gidarb is a surgeon. .

Dare Call it Treason: A treatise on the state of the nation and our Constitutional representation by Brian Firth

Brian argues that our Constitutional representatives have not merely failed to uphold the Constitution of the United States but that this failure is so egregious that it amounts to treason.

Comment on Brian's work on The Random Factor board. finish it, the author, who had begun two years before O.J. Simpson was accused of murder, had to learn whether the first or second jury got it right. In The Messiah, the men who control the media can look back in time and see the truth. For some reason they have chosen not to. For some reason they have made the same choice about the image of a man on a mountain who could be the Messiah. .

The image most people have of American Vietnam vets and the cause they fought for comes from those who won the war of words and images against them in the American mass media. They won because the tube is mightier than the M-16. That story hasn't been told in the award-winning books, films or documentaries that you know. It is told here by a Liberal African-American who fought the difficult war in Vietnam and the unwinnable war at home.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Brian Firth was educated at the City of Guilds Engineering College, London University. He saw active service as a recovery officer, operating all kinds of wheeled vehicles, with the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea. He taught engineering in South Africa, Canada, and the United States.

With his technical background as a guide, Firth quickly realized that progress has never been limited by a lack of technology, always by restrictions on liberty. He believes that the issue now, as it was in Jerusalem nineteen-and-a-half centuries ago, is between obeying God or Caesar.

He has belonged to the Libertarian Party since the McBride Campaign in 1976. He is the author of A Firm League of Friends. His is currently a professional proof reader specializing in translating American English and the inscrutable English English. He has been a stringently critical reviewer of books for Rapport.
