BOARD MEETING AGENDA

Item #	TIME	TOPIC	RESPONSIBLE PERSON
10	5 Minutes	Presentation, discussion and possible action: Food & Water Watch is asking for a letter of support that will go to LA City Council urging a moratorium on fracking. Fracking is the process of injecting millions of gallons of water, sand and toxic chemicals at high pressures underground to fracture shale layers, and release trapped oil and gas. Unfortunately, many of these wells are being covertly placed in dense neighborhoods throughout Los Angeles, often without companies notifying the neighborhoods of their activities. The increased air pollution has so far caused tangible health problems for residents in University Park and West Adams. The new wells also contribute to an increase in seismic activity, and more.	Walker Foley, Community Organizer, Food & Water Watch
