Summary: The purpose of detention centers is to help and rehabilitate juveniles, and protect the community. Various studies and public testimony have documented the inadequate access to legal, medical, and mental health care resulting in physical and emotional trauma and other long-term effects of private sector detention centers. Private sector centers are for-profit businesses whose purpose is to maximize profits for its shareholders. Their goals are different and incompatible with rehabilitation. When it comes to incarcerating people, giving this responsibility to for-profit businesses is a bad idea. Therefore NWSPNC supports the draft ordinance and urges its quick approval.
