Summary: Granada Hills South Neighborhood Council supports the Neighborhood Council Commission (BONC) and the Los Angeles City Council in including Implicit Bias Training as part of the mandatory training program for all Neighborhood Council Board members. Implicit Bias identifies ways in which the conscious patterns people inevitably develop to organize information actually affects individual's actions, thus creating real-world implications, even though individuals may not be aware that those biases exist within themselves. As leaders within the community, it is imperative that all board members are adequately trained to engage successfully with members of the community who may be different from them.
