Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo was a part of how I was raised, it is a big part of this country, it is a way people make money to raise there families, a life style, job, or a way for people to come together. Our horses are our pride and joy nothing in the rodeo we do hurts or affects them negatively they love their job as much as we do, as for the bucking stock these horses/ bulls were bred for it they love it the strap in there flank does not hurt them, does not cause them pain and they are most likely the best taken care of, the stock contractors that raise them take pride in the way there animals look, are fed, and how they are taken care of. If you are an outsider looking in, not raised around it, I can see how it may look scary but the people in the rodeos you are watching are professionals and know what they are doing, are trained in their job and how to properly take care of there animals. Please do your research before you vote as this is how many people make their living and provide for there family's while doing what they love.
