Comments for Public Posting: Anyone who believes that rodeo animals are mistreated or abused need to open their eyes. These animals are taken care of just like you would take care of your pet. They are well fed, vet checked, and loved and they do their job.. Ask a roper about his horse. Ask an owner of bulls or bucking horses. Better yet, go behind the scenes and see these animals and talk to the owners. Rodeo and the western life need to be preserved.

Comments for Public Posting: These outdated practices are no longer necessary for entertainment. The pain and abuse to animals isn't worth it as we have plenty of other entertainment options, including educational activities that can teach people and children how to care for animals rather than just ride and tame them. Please consider stopping rodeo and similar events forever.

Comments for Public Posting: With all the information and resources we have, rodeos are an archaic entertainment past time that should be done away with for good. Let's help these animals live peaceful lives without physical or mental pain that participating in rodeos brings them. They deserve love and care for all their days on earth.
