Comments for Public Posting: Regarding the proposed ban on rodeos: I've attended rodeos for over 40 years and have yet to witness a disregard for an animal's well being. Though I am merely a spectator of the sport, I know people in the industry and can safely say rodeo stock from horses to bovines lead a pretty pampered life. Even after an animal is retired, it continues to receive top notch care. I feel a city or county should focus more on caring for homeless veterans than on a viable and proven industry such rodeo.

Comments for Public Posting: Please do not cancel rodeo or equine events....none of these animals would be alive if they weren't needed in these events. The rodeo stock are NOT pets and no one can afford to feed and house them if they aren't in events. These animals are very well cared for and "work" a very small portion of their lives. There are so many jobs and lives that revolve around these events from feed stores, veterinarians, farm supply stores, hay farmers and numerous other business all employing alot of people....mistreated animals do not performthese animals are in supreme health and very well cared for....it is very family oriented and focus is on fun ...a way for city people to connect with real live animals thankyou, Dena Hendricks

Comments for Public Posting: Please understand that this is an “Extremist” organization using FALSE facts to try and make the public shed tears. They are targeting people that are easily persuaded by pulling on their heart string by feeding them lies about Rodeo livestock and the industry. Rodeo livestock, if you actually do your homework and not just fall into believing what this organization of pathetic and deceptive people are leading you to believe, you will actually learn that Rodeo Livestock are cared for at a very high level. You have to see that the cowboy way of life offers a very down to earth and wholesome lifestyle to millions of people who make a living at it. These animals give more people than you even realize a second chance at life from kids with disabilities too prison inmates who are trying to reform their life and it works! Without Rodeo Stock Contractors and Ranchers this world would be at a great loss!
