Comments for Public Posting: The western lifestyle is an essential way of life and means of living for many in the city of Los Angeles. Rodeo culture is one of pride and perseverance, it is a culture and a mindset that carries us all through life's ups and downs. Banning the sport of Rodeo in our city would have a devastating impact on our livelihood and drastically change the course for the younger generations who will keep the western way alive. The animals, wranglers, contestants and the like have the utmost respect for the quality of care that is giving to every animal involved. Not understanding the Rodeo way is NOT a good excuse to ban the entire sport, essentially punishing everyone for misconceptions and skewed perceptions of who we are, what we stand for, how we conduct ourselves and the treatment of our beloved livestock. Please reconsider before punishing us all unjustly.

Comments for Public Posting: Reading through the ordinance, I find it discriminatory to exclude certain equestrian events found in affluent communities. This ordinance discriminates particular equestrian events and excludes others. It is important to highlight equestrian care and lawful maintenance, this ordinance does not do this considering all equestrian events. Furthermore, it makes it a crime to hose equestrian events found in particular communities and not others. Do away or do better by thoroughly reaching out to the communities and better understanding these events, culture and communities.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo has brought so many people together, it helps people make friends and lasting relationships. I've seen more abuse from dude ranches than in rodeo!

Comments for Public Posting: Hello, I am born in raised in Los Angeles and I have been to many Rodeo events I.E. Charrería (which is part of my Mexican Culture) You are targeting our culture and peoples way of life. The traditions involved in Charrería have been passed down so many generations, it is a beautiful art that takes a lot of discipline, practice, and heart. The people involved in RODEO culture love and take care of their animals with passion and immense love. Please do NOT erase our culture.... we stand in solidarity to NOT criminalize culture. -thank you!
