Comments for Public Posting: For 40 years the Bill Picket Rodeo has brought pride and joy to the black community. It has also brought recognition and respect from the rest of the rodeo community as it shows that as black people,,we can do it too. Do not forget that you have a responsibility to protect and serve our community from special interest groups. Just because they don't like something and have a lot of money to contribute to campaigns, doesn't mean it isn't right or important to someone else. Years of tradition have recently been erased from the City because of this mentality, Travel Town, Circuses that I was able to attend along with my children with hope that my grandchildren could do the same are disappearing. As the city council of Los Angeles, you have a great deal of other issues that need addressing. This is not some minor subject matter that can be resolved with just without any impact reports being compiled and studied. Your so called acceptance of other cultures and traditions is being tested now. People of color are supposedly welcome as long as it's just singing and dancing that they do. Keep rodeos legal in LA, they are definitely better than your Council district #1 ideas of legalization of schedule 1 drugs.

Comments for Public Posting: I would respectfully request the banning of all rodeos in Los Angeles and anywhere else. Rodeos are a cruel and blood thirsty event that perpetuates harm and injury to all the animals involved. Do you think bulls buck because they are trained to do so? No, they buck because they are in pain, which is created by the rider. This must stop. Anyone who takes pleasure in seeing an animal harmed should be banned from normal society.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is part our black history and culture. This is a great experience to see people to come together and enjoy the entertainment. No animals were injured nor harmed. Circus animals are treated with such cruelty. The Rodeo was performed in the evening when it was much cooler than the day. I would love for the Rodeo to keep returning every year and not shut down or banned

Comments for Public Posting: It is beyond outrageous that Rodeos are still allowed to occur. Rodeos are nothing short of sanctioned animal abuse. The treatment of these innocent creatures is horrific. Rodeos are a grotesque spectacle of animal suffering for the entertainment of demented humans.

Comments for Public Posting: There is always a licensed veterinarian on site. All animals are inspected and evaluated for illness, weight, eyesight, and injury before the rodeo, and no animals that are sore, lame, sick, or injured are allowed to participate. The rate of animal injuries in these rodeos is statistically negligible. Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo (BPIR) also serves as a cultural event and opportunity for families to enjoy and embrace the cowboy culture, while being educated and entertained with reenactments, history highlights, and western adventure. My family has been in attendance to BPIR since I was a child. I never imagined seen such representation in an industry that, at that time, I've only seen white men portrayed. I only hope I will continue to have the opportunity to pass on the tradition of bringing my children to be educated and learn of the culture impact it has had in our community and history that seems to be slowly erased and rewritten. Save the rodeo, save our culture. Thank you for your time.

Comments for Public Posting: Dear Council Members, Please do not permit the cruelty of the to ever return to Los Angeles. The assault and violent roping of indefensible animals and the riding of bucking horses and steers by testosterone-frenzied, would-be he-men is an abomination, and not a form of entertainment that belongs in this century. Thank you for your attention to my comments today. Christine A. Dorchak, Esq. Boston, Massachusetts
