Comments for Public Posting: Continue to allow rodeo's in your county. The cowboys and cowgirls of this country take great pride and care into their livestock and community.

Comments for Public Posting: Outlawing these events is an overstep of huge proportions. There will always be controversy, but you really must avoid hypocrisy. These animals are valuable, and live good lives with excellent care and good handling. No animal, horse or bull can ever be forced to buck if they don't want to do it. If you eat meat, you are likely consuming meat from animals not treated nearly as well as these performance horses and bulls. But those animals live outside LA, so you don't need to make a declaration about them. Is there any room for controversy? Yes, there always is with animals. Many of the same folks pushing this ban, would argue just as strenuously that you should not even have pets. There is room for controversy there too. Outlawing western sports in LA will not be useful to these animals in the slightest. Just don't start trying to make decisions on every controversy that comes down the pike. It just may be your passion that "has to go" next.
