Comments for Public Posting: It is unfair that the City of Los Angeles which boasts so much about diversity is attacking diversity itself, these traditions are deep rooted in California's history and it is preposterous to ban them in order to please a group of constituents that aren't native to California and whom aren't hurt in any way shape of form by these activities. We should be free to express ourselves and not be told by others not to practice our beliefs simply because others don't agree.
