Comments for Public Posting: Rodeos are inherently cruel to animals. Bull riding, steer wrestling, team roping, etc. are torture for the animals. Here's a description of calf roping: CALF ROPING Three to four-month-old calves flee quickly from a holding pen into a ring. A rider on horseback chases the calf and lassos the animal around the neck. This fast and violent rope action often jerks the calf into the air and snaps their head back. The calf is then thrown to the ground where the rider ties three of the calf's hind legs together. These baby calves suffer broken necks, broken legs, being trampled, not to mention being absolutely terrified. People bring their children to the rodeo to watch these horrific events. Imagine what that does to a young mind. Seeing the adults around them endorsing the torture of helpless animals. Please help put an end to this.
